Orleans Teachers Will Be Paid, Legislator Says

School Official Says No Money In Sight For Checks

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Louisiana Legislature will find a way to pay New Orleans public school teachers, a leading segregationist legislator said Tuesday.

Rep. John Garrett, chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Segregation, said at Baton Rouge: "The Legislature wants to see that the New Orleans teachers are paid. We know the vast majority are not in sympathy with school integration."

Garrett, who made his announcement on the eve of the reconvening of the 30-day special session, spoke after Dr. James Redmond, public school superintendent, said no money was in sight for the teachers' November checks.

Sen. Wendell Harris, a member of the State Sovereignty Commission, qualified Garrett's announcement by saying only teachers who teach in segregated schools will be paid.

Harris also said those who taught in the two integrated schools are subject to dismissal.

Appeal To Governor

Dr. Redmond had urged Gov. Jimmie H. Davis to "rise above the noisy emotions of some state legislators" and make the money available.

Many teachers said the announcement of a payless November came as no surprise. The consensus seemed they would continue to work and eventually receive their salaries. Most teachers, attempting to avoid the segregation row, refused to comment.

Veteran teachers recalled the depression of the 1930s when they had been paid in scrip or bonds.

There were unconfirmed reports a group of local businessmen would advance $2 million for the teachers.

"The nation is watching the State of Louisiana," Redmond said. "It has been made clear by state actions that Orleans Parish School Board officials cannot be considered responsible for this plight."

State Banks Refuse Loan

State banks, worried by legal claim and counterclaim, refused to loan $1.9 million to meet the monthly teacher payroll due Wednesday. The loan would have been made against future earmarked tax revenues. It is a normal procedure this time of year.

The legislature, fighting mad over federal-ordered integration of New Orleans schools last week, refused to make state money available. It didn't reply to telegraphed school board pleas last week.

The board squeezed by a $45,000 weekly maintenance payroll last Friday because a New Orleans bank, Whitney National, made available some deposited school funds. The state promptly moved to take state business away from the bank.

The payless payday will affect 4,500 teachers, principals and other school employes.

The schools are closed in New Orleans this week while white and Negro teachers attend segregated state conventions in Baton Rouge.

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A pathologist reported Tuesday that five men, found in a smouldering car in mountainous Pike County, died of fire fracture or internal heat and all but ruled out the possibility of foul play.

Dr. Frank Cleveland, who examined two of the victims at a Cincinnati laboratory, told State Police there was no evidence of gunshot wounds on the bodies.

U.S. And Bonn Deadlock Over Troop Upkeep

BONN, Germany (AP) — U. S.-West German economic talks became deadlocked Tuesday night over a Bonn government refusal to contribute $600 million immediately toward the upkeep of American troops in this country.

The West Germans argued they would not deliver such a sum on short notice.

Britain was reported planning to make similar demands on the prosperous Germans.

U.S. economic negotiators temporarily brushed aside German offers of increased outlays for foreign aid, which would not release dollars to help the declining gold position of the U.S. Treasury.

The Americans maintained that Washington's balance of payments troubles can best be solved by a healthy German contribution to the annual $700 million cost of maintaining U.S. forces here on the edge of the Iron Curtain.

All told, the Americans are said to want nearly $1.5 billion from Bonn at once to pay for troops and aid the West's program to help underdeveloped countries. The Germans are offering about $1 billion—spread over four years.

As for the troop costs, the Germans offered to pay about one-quarter of the $600 million request and would prefer instead to pay a larger share of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization defense costs, informants said.

The talks continue for another day, and the U.S. team then goes on to Paris and London for similar discussions.

Informants said the U.S. experts, led by Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson and Undersecretary of State C. Douglas Dillon, reached "no worthwhile meeting of minds" with the German team, headed by Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard.

Hoegh Letter Cited In Hassle Over CD Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Government Information subcommittee said Tuesday it has evidence that Civil Defense Director Leo A. Hoegh pressured the Army last August to suppress a scientific report on deficiencies in the nation's air raid warning system.

Subcommitte Chairman John E. Moss, D-Calif., noted that earlier this month Hoegh denied a statement that the report had been suppressed by the Army because of Civil Defense pressure. But, Moss said, the subcommittee has a Hoegh letter urging the suppression.

There was no new comment from Hoegh.

"Political face-saving has been claimed by an administration bureaucrat as justification for suppressing the ugly fact that during the past eight years little or nothing has ben done to put into effect a meaningful air raid warning system," Moss said in a statement.

Frankfurter Casing Color Agent Banned

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government Tuesday night banned use of a coal tar color used in maraschino cherries and to color the casings of frankfurters.

Announcing the action, the Food and Drug Administration said preliminary experiments have shown the color produces liver damage in test animals and no safe use level has been established.

The color is known as FDC—food-drug-cosmetic—Red No. 1.

He added, however, "that no action needs to be taken to remove foods, drugs and cosmetics containing this color additive from the market on the basis of the scientific evidence." Harvey said this is because the additive is not an acute toxic substance and that it is only used in small amounts in foods, drugs and cosmetics.

Commenting on tests of the color, Harvey said results did not provide a basis for concluding that the color could cause cancer. He added that tests will be continued.

The FDA acted under the new color additive law enacted this year by Congress which places on manufacturers the burden of proving that colors are safe before they can be used in foods, drugs and cosmetics.

Heretofore, Harvey said, there have been no limits on the amount of Red No. 1 that could be used in foods, although in practice the actual amounts have been small, even where Red No. 1 was the sole coloring agent used.

The FDA said the color is not used in lipsticks.

Private Study Declares CAB's Setup Inefficient

WASHINGTON (AP)—A firm of outside consultants said Tuesday the Civil Aeronautics Board fritters away too much of its time and resources.

Reporting on a six-month study ordered by the Budget Bureau, McKinsey & Co. Inc. of Washington said it found that the agency's organization was faulty and its planning was scanty. It said the board should have seven instead of five members and badly needs a top level policy and planning staff.

The five CAB commissioners and their 750 staff workers regulate and promote the airline industry.

McKinsey said the board takes so long to decide air fare and route cases that there has been "denial of justice in some cases and economic losses in others."

Also, it said the board should be more aggressive in developing research programs directed toward the prevention of future air tragedies. It said work in this direction is hampered by the amount of manpower required to investigate past accidents.

On this point, the consultant group said 80 per cent more manpower is needed to investigate an accident involving a turbo-prop or jet plane than is the case with piston-driven aircraft.

The report was submitted to the Budget Bureau and the CAB, which will decide what action may be necessary. The cost of the study hasn't been determined but is not to exced $53,200.

Soldiers Beat, Arrest Many U.N. Officials

Ghana's Welbeck, Ordered Expelled By Mobutu, Departs

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Col. Joseph Mobutu's victorious army roved through Leopoldville Tuesday, arresting and beating scores of United Nations officials in revenge for the death of their field commander in an all-night battle with U.N. soldiers.

With the Congo army attacking the official residence of Ghana, the world organization backed down on its pledge to protect the diplomatic immunity of Ghana's charge d'affaires, Nathaniel Welbeck, an ally of deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba. Welbeck flew home on orders from Mobutu after the young colonel's soldiers had forced him from the residence that was guarded by the U.N. force.

Despite this setback, the United Nations reaffirmed its pledge to maintain order in the Congo. Machine gun units were posted at U.N. offices.

Three U.N. Girls Seized

But U.N. officials fell victim to rampaging bands of Congolese soldiers. They were pulled from their cars and homes. Some were beaten savagely. One group returning late from a party—including three U.N. girls—was locked in a room all night by the soldiers. The group was released in the morning.

Twelve other U.N. officials were held throughout the day at Camp Leopold.

Despite his success in making good on the expulsion order against Welbeck, Mobutu faced the problem of subduing his rampaging soldiers, defying his orders to refrain from violence.

A U.N. spokesman said Mobutu, who is striving to maintain his role as the Congo's strong man, had issued orders to his men to halt the violence.

The United Nations found itself fighting the Congolese army after promising to protect the safety of all officials, Congolese and foreign, including Welbeck.

At Least Five Killed

In the battle, one Tunisian U.N. soldier and at least four Congolese were killed. Eight Tunisians were wounded.

The acting head of the U.N. mission, Indian Brig. Indarjit Rikhye, announced that the United Nations is ready to continue carrying out its mandate to maintain law and order in the troubled nation.

But a question arose on how the United Nations could overcome the critical blows to its prestige during the past 24 hours.

Lumumba's fate was the next matter for concern to both Rikhye and Mobutu. The deposed premier remains entrenched in his official residence under a strong U.N. guard, and Mobutu assured Rikhye that he will not order any attack on the residence.

But neither Rikhye nor Mobutu seemed confident that unruly army elements, encouraged by Welbeck's departure, might not set out after Lumumba without orders.

Puerto Ricans Hail Archbishop's Stand

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Government and political leaders expressed gratification Tuesday over Archbishop James P. Davis' statement that sacraments will not be denied Roman Catholics who voted for Gov. Luis Munoz Marin Nov. 8.

"Thank God this situation has been resolved," said Mrs. Felisa Rincon de Gautier, mayor of San Juan. The mayor had been singled out by the Rev. Thomas Maisonet, pastor of San Juan cathedral, as one of those facing denial of the sacraments unless she repented publicly.

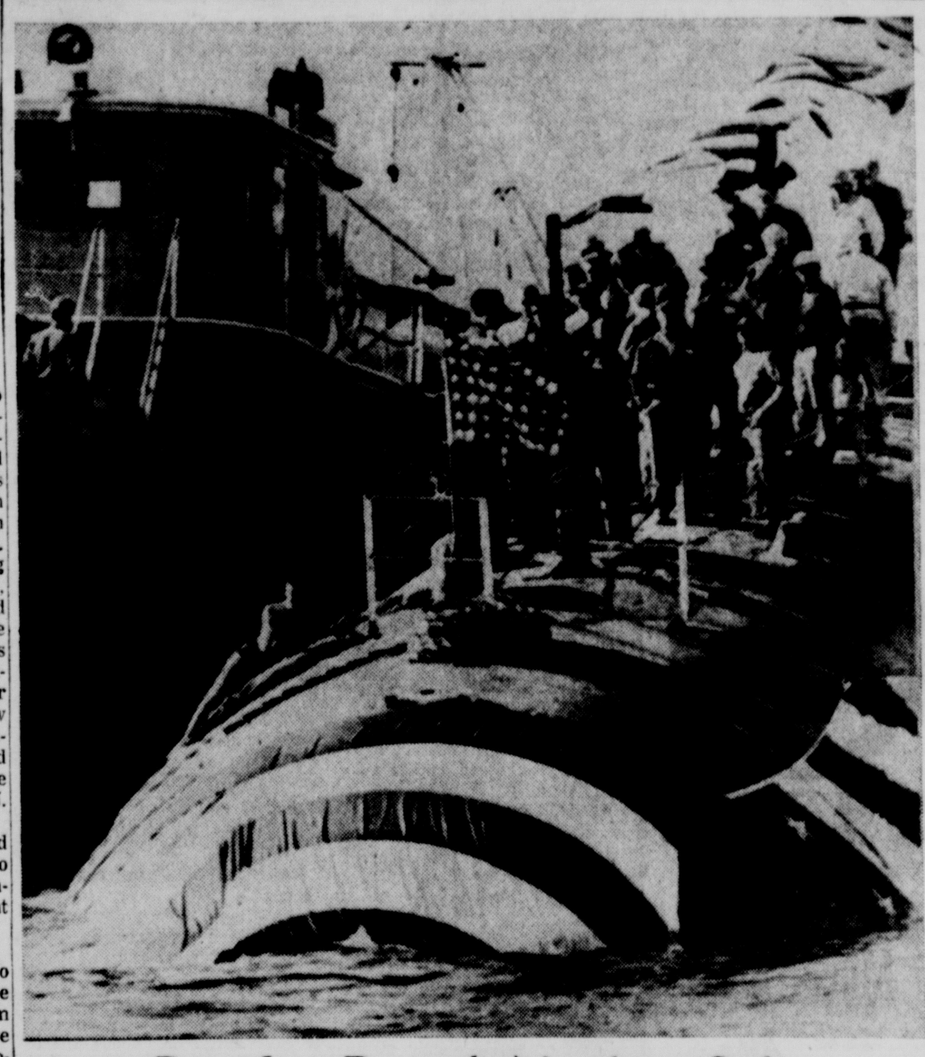

The statement by the archbishop of San Juan was issued Monday night in Chicago, where he is attending a meeting of the Catholic Church Extension Society.

Archbishop Davis said the Puerto Rican clergy has not been authorized to deny sacraments to Catholics who defied their bishops' instructions by voting for Munoz Marin's Popular Democratic party.

Kennedy Delays Meeting With Labor Leaders

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy relaxed Tuesday after putting off a Thanksgiving Eve labor meeting and taking a look into the Democratic party's depleted coffers.

But bearing down on the Massachusetts senator is the necessity of picking promptly the men who will serve under him in the highest posts in the White House and government departments. Eighty of these positions must be filled on a top-priority basis.

Kennedy's acting press secretary, Donald M. Wilson, said, though, that he doesn't know whether there will be a stream of announcements of appointments immediately after Thanksgiving. Kennedy has said there possibly would be none until early December.

Kennedy flies to Washington Wednesday afternoon and back here Thursday night, after spending Thanksgiving Day with his wife and daughter Caroline. Caroline will be 3 Sunday and the celebration of her birthday is being moved up to Thursday so he can take part.

Originally Kennedy had planned to meet with President George Meany and other AFL-CIO leaders after his return to Washington.

But Wilson said a Thanksgiving Eve session was proving to be awkward because it involved bringing in leaders, some from outlying parts of the country, who would have to miss the holiday with their families.

President Picnics On Quail He Shot

Eisenhower and a shooting partner, blasting away with shotguns bagged 15 of the game birds flushed into target range by outriders and hunting dogs during a 3½-hour morning hunt.

They returned to the fields in the afternoon to see if they could boost their total to the legal limit of 10 quail per man.

The President and his host, oilman W. Alton Jones, picnicked in sunny 75 degree weather on quail broiled over an open fire on Jones' 15,000-acre plantation.

Eisenhower flew to the Jones estate, 80 miles from the Florida border, after bidding an affectionate farewell to the Augusta National Golf Club, his vacation headquarters on 26 previous presidential trips.

Swimming Pacifists Board Polaris Sub

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — The Navy's most powerful Polaris-missile submarine, which will have increased firing range, was launched Tuesday and had its first skirmish—with a group of pacifists.

Two of the pacifists swam to the nuclear-powered Ethan Allen and boarded it minutes after the gaily decorated craft slid down the ways into the Thames River. They were removed quickly.

The Ethan Allen, named for the American Revolutionary War hero, is the first of a new line of fleet ballistic missile subs that will have a firing range of 1,500 miles or more. It displaces 6,900 tons.

The $110 million craft, and the rest of her four sister ships, will carry the new A2 Polaris missile, which is expected to have a range up to 1,725 miles. The older subs have the 1,380-mile A1 Polaris.

Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told a crowd of about 5,000 at the launching ceremony the United States must maintain and increase its military strength in all its forms.

"The Communist leaders have respect for only one thing—military power," he said. "I believe that the only effective restraint now or in the future on the leaders of the Kremlin and Peking is fear of the consequences in the exercise of military power."

The Ethan Allen's power will come from her 16 A2 missiles, each of which will carry an atomic payload. The A2, now undergoing testing at Cape Canaveral, Fla., is scheduled to become operational in 1962. A 2,875-mile model is planned for two years after that.

The two pacifists who boarded the Ethan Allen were William Henry, 27, of Lodi, Wis., and Donald Martin, 20, of Wellesley, Mass. They swam to the side of the 410-foot-long craft and climbed the bunting draped on the sides.

Earlier, Henry and Martin and seven other self-styled pacifists attempted unsuccessfully to interfere with the launching.

Riding two rowboats and a canoe, the demonstrators tried to enter the area directly in front of the ways at the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp., builder of the submarine. But two Navy and five Coast Guard vessels moved in and the pacifists were put aboard official boats.

Curb-Jumping Car Kills Two

BALTIMORE (AP) — An automobile jumped a curb in the Pimlico section of Baltimore Tuesday and fatally injured two women on the sidewalk.

One of the victims was dead on arrival at Sinai Hospital and the other died minutes after she was admitted.

The driver of the car, identified by police as David Weed, 61, was treated at the hospital for shock. He told police his car suddenly went out of control.

The victims were identified as Mrs. Jennie Siedel, 62, and Mrs. Mollie Fink, both of Baltimore. They apparently were walking home from a grocery when hit.

Novelist Receives Mental Exam After Wife Stabbed

NEW YORK (AP) — Novelist Norman Mailer, 37, accused of stabbing his wife, was taken to Bellevue Hospital Tuesday for psychiatric observation. A physician said he appeared to be having a breakdown and was both homicidal and suicidal.

Felony Court Magistrate Reuben Levy ordered the mental examination after the author of the best seller "The Naked and the Dead" appeared in court on a felonious assault charge.

He is accused of stabbing his wife with a penknife during a party early Sunday. Mrs. Mailer, listed in critical condition, at first told physicians she was injured when she fell on broken glass.

Asst. Dist. Atty. William Reilly quoted a report by a Park Avenue psychiatrist in asking that Mailer be sent to Bellevue.

The psychiatrist, Dr. Conrad Rosenberg, said he believed the novelist was having an acute paranoid breakdown with delusional thinking.

Mailer challenged the medical report as "gratuitous and presumptuous."

"My pride is that as a sane man I can explore areas of experience that other men are afraid of," he told the magistrate. "I insist I am sane."

Mailer then went on to say that if he were sent to a mental institution "for the rest of my life my work will be considered the work of a man who has a distorted mind. The doctor only examined me for about 30 seconds. I was just looking down at my shoes and I felt depressed and it was all over."

Mailer refused to discuss the stabbing with newsmen but insisted he still loved his wife.

53-24 Vote Represents U.S. Victory

Peace Commission Decides To Delay Congo Departure

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly Tuesday night gave its vacant Congo seat to a delegation headed by President Joseph Kasavubu.

By a vote of 53-24 with 19 abstentions the assembly upheld a recommendation of its Credentials Committee that it seat Kasavubu.

The vote represented a victory for the United States and other Western supporters of Kasavubu, and a defeat for the Soviet bloc and a considerable number of Asian-African nations.

Just before the vote was taken the U.N.'s Asian-African Conciliation Commission decided to delay its scheduled departure Tuesday night for Leopoldville on a peacemaking mission.

The decision to postpone the departure came after Kasavubu sent a letter to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold objecting to dispatch of the mission at this time to the violence-wracked Congo.

Dag Balks At Disclosure

The assembly called upon Hammarksjold to disclose its contents, but he refused to do so on the grounds he received it not as secretary-general but as head of the U.N. Advisory Committee that decided to dispatch the Conciliation Commission.

Earlier the assembly beat down a last ditch attempt to adjourn debate pending a report from Hammarskjold on anti-U.N. violence in the Congo. Ghana made the move with support of the Soviet bloc.

Immediately after the vote Mali announced its withdrawal from the conciliation commission, and a meeting of the Advisory Committee was called to consider the over-all situation. It is made up of all nations who have contributed troops to the 20,000-man U.N. Congo force.

Jaja Wuchuku, Nigerian delegate who was named chairman of the conciliation group, refused to take part in the vote on approval of the Credentials Committee's recommendation.

He told the assembly he could not do so as head of the conciliation mission, or as a representative of an African country.

Three Versions Of Clash

Meanwhile, Hammarskjold circulated a report from his acting special representative in the Congo, Indian Brig. Gen. Indarjit Rikhye, saying there were three different versions as to how Monday night's clash between Congolese and U.N. forces started. Two of the versions, he said, indicated that U.N. troops opened fire first.

"A number of independent witnesses," he said, "have stated that firing began on the U.N. Command side but only in answer to a mass charge from the Congolese side."

He placed the number of casualties at one dead and nine wounded on the U.N. side and one dead and one wounded on Congolese side. One of the dead was Congolese Col. Joseph Kokolo.

The assembly voted 50-34 with 13 abstentions against a motion by Ghana Delegate J. E. Jantuah to adjourn the debate pending an official report from Hammarskjold. Jantuah said it was impossible to consider seating a government "whose militia has attacked the United Nations."

But U.S. Delegate James J. Wadsworth blamed Ghana for the violence.

He said Ghana's refusal to follow normal diplomatic procedure in acceding to a request from Kasavubu for recall of its charve d'affaires, Nathaniel Welbeck, caused Monday night's battle between U.N. soldiers and the army of Col. Joseph Mobutu.

Britain, Italy Agree On Need For Summit

ROME (AP) —British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan told the Italian people Monday night he believes the West is ready to met with Soviet Premier Khrushchev "if there is a chance of reaching reasonably negotiated settlements."

Macmillan, who has been holding talks with Italian officials, appeared in a filmed interview on Italian television.

"Of course, I think the position of the West is quite clear," he said. "We have to maintain our strength, we have to maintain our unity, but at the same time we should always be ready to negotiate, to discuss, and to seek—if we can—solutions for the most pressing problems."

A joint British-Italian communique said Italy agreed on the need for a summit meeting.

Despite this setback, the United Nations reaffirmed its pledge to maintain order in the Congo. Machine gun units were posted at U.N. offices.

Three U.N. Girls Seized

But U.N. officials fell victim to rampaging bands of Congolese soldiers. They were pulled from their cars and homes. Some were beaten savagely. One group returning late from a party—including three U.N. girls—was locked in a room all night by the soldiers. The group was released in the morning.

Twelve other U.N. officials were held throughout the day at Camp Leopold.

Despite his success in making good on the expulsion order against Welbeck, Mobutu faced the problem of subduing his rampaging soldiers, defying his orders to refrain from violence.

A U.N. spokesman said Mobutu, who is striving to maintain his role as the Congo's strong man, had issued orders to his men to halt the violence.

The United Nations found itself fighting the Congolese army after promising to protect the safety of all officials, Congolese and foreign, including Welbeck.

At Least Five Killed

In the battle, one Tunisian U.N. soldier and at least four Congolese were killed. Eight Tunisians were wounded.

The acting head of the U.N. mission, Indian Brig. Indarjit Rikhye, announced that the United Nations is ready to continue carrying out its mandate to maintain law and order in the troubled nation.

But a question arose on how the United Nations could overcome the critical blows to its prestige during the past 24 hours.

Lumumba's fate was the next matter for concern to both Rikhye and Mobutu. The deposed premier remains entrenched in his official residence under a strong U.N. guard, and Mobutu assured Rikhye that he will not order any attack on the residence.

But neither Rikhye nor Mobutu seemed confident that unruly army elements, encouraged by Welbeck's departure, might not set out after Lumumba without orders.

Puerto Ricans Hail Archbishop's Stand

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Government and political leaders expressed gratification Tuesday over Archbishop James P. Davis' statement that sacraments will not be denied Roman Catholics who voted for Gov. Luis Munoz Marin Nov. 8.

"Thank God this situation has been resolved," said Mrs. Felisa Rincon de Gautier, mayor of San Juan. The mayor had been singled out by the Rev. Thomas Maisonet, pastor of San Juan cathedral, as one of those facing denial of the sacraments unless she repented publicly.

The statement by the archbishop of San Juan was issued Monday night in Chicago, where he is attending a meeting of the Catholic Church Extension Society.

Archbishop Davis said the Puerto Rican clergy has not been authorized to deny sacraments to Catholics who defied their bishops instructions by voting for Munoz Marin's Popular Democratic party.

Kennedy Delays Meeting With Labor Leaders

But bearing down on the Massachusetts senator is the necessity of picking promptly the men who will serve under him in the highest posts in the White House and government departments. Eighty of these positions must be filled on a top-priority basis.

Kennedy's acting press secretary, Donald M. Wilson, said, though, that he doesn't know whether there will be a stream of announcements of appointments immediately after Thanksgiving. Kennedy has said there possibly would be none until early December.

Kennedy flies to Washington Wednesday afternoon and back here Thursday night, after spending Thanksgiving Day with his wife and daughter Caroline. Caroline will be 3 Sunday and the celebration of her birthday is being moved up to Thursday so he can take part.

Originally Kennedy had planned to meet with President George Meany and other AFL-CIO leaders after his return to Washington.

But Wilson said a Thanksgiving Eve session was proving to be awkward because it involved bringing in leaders, some from outlying parts of the country, who would have to miss the holiday with their families.

President Picnics On Quail He Shot

Eisenhower and a shooting partner, blasting away with shotguns bagged 15 of the game birds flushed into target range by outriders and hunting dogs during a 3½-hour morning hunt.

They returned to the fields in the afternoon to see if they could boost their total to the legal limit of 10 quail per man.

The President and his host, oilman W. Alton Jones, picnicked in sunny 75 degree weather on quail broiled over an open fire on Jones' 15,000-acre plantation.

Eisenhower flew to the Jones estate, 30 miles from the Florida border, after bidding an affectionate farewell to the Augusta National Golf Club, his vacation headquarters on 26 previous presidential trips.

Swimming Pacifists Board Polaris Sub

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — The Navy's most powerful Polaris-missile submarine, which will have increased firing range, was launched Tuesday and had its first skirmish—with a group of pacifists.

Two of the pacifists swam to the nuclear-powered Ethan Allen and boarded it minutes after the gaily decorated craft slid down the ways into the Thames River. They were removed quickly.

The Ethan Allen, named for the American Revolutionary War hero, is the first of a new line of fleet ballistic missile subs that will have a firing range of 1,500 miles or more. It displaces 6,900 tons.

The $110 million craft, and the rest of her four sister ships, will carry the new A2 Polaris missile, which is expected to have a range up to 1,725 miles. The older subs have the 1,380-mile A1 Polaris.

Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told a crowd of about 5,000 at the launching ceremony the United States must maintain and increase its military strength in all its forms.

"The Communist leaders have respect for only one thing—military power," he said. "I believe that the only effective restraint now or in the future on the leaders of the Kremlin and Peking is fear of the consequences in the exercise of military power."

The Ethan Allen's power will come from her 16 A2 missiles, each of which will carry an atomic payload. The A2, now undergoing testing at Cape Canaveral, Fla., is scheduled to become operational in 1962. A 2,875-mile model is planned for two years after that.

The two pacifists who boarded the Ethan Allen were William Henry, 27, of Lodi, Wis., and Donald Martin, 20, of Wellesley, Mass. They swam to the side of the 410-foot-long craft and climbed the bunting draped on the sides.

Earlier, Henry and Martin and seven other self-styled pacifists attempted unsuccessfully to interfere with the launching.

Riding two rowboats and a canoe, the demonstrators tried to enter the area directly in front of the ways at the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp., builder of the submarine. But two Navy and five Coast Guard vessels moved in and the pacifists were put aboard official boats.

Curb-Jumping Car Kills Two

BALTIMORE (AP) — An automobile jumped a curb in the Pimlico section of Baltimore Tuesday and fatally injured two women on the sidewalk.

One of the victims was dead on arrival at Sinai Hospital and the other died minutes after she was admitted.

The driver of the car, identified by police as David Weed, 61, was treated at the hospital for shock. He told police his car suddenly went out of control.

The victims were identified as Mrs. Jennie Siedel, 62, and Mrs. Mollie Fink, both of Baltimore. They apparently were walking home from a grocery when hit.

Novelist Receives Mental Exam After Wife Stabbed

NEW YORK (AP) — Novelist Norman Mailer, 37, accused of stabbing his wife, was taken to Bellevue Hospital Tuesday for psychiatric observation. A physician said he appeared to be having a breakdown and was both homicidal and suicidal.

Felony Court Magistrate Reuben Levy ordered the mental examination after the author of the best seller "The Naked and the Dead" appeared in court on a felonious assault charge.

He is accused of stabbing his wife with a penknife during a party early Sunday. Mrs. Mailer, listed in critical condition, at first told physicians she was injured when she fell on broken glass.

Asst. Dist. Atty. William Reilly quoted a report by a Park Avenue psychiatrist in asking that Mailer be sent to Bellevue.

The psychiatrist, Dr. Conrad Rosenberg, said he believed the novelist was having an acute paranoid breakdown with delusional thinking.

Mailer challenged the medical report as "gratuitous and presumptuous."

"My pride is that as a sane man I can explore areas of experience that other men are afraid of," he told the magistrate. "I insist I am sane."

Mailer then went on to say that if he were sent to a mental institution "for the rest of my life my work will be considered the work of a man who has a distorted mind. The doctor only examined me for about 30 seconds. I was just looking down at my shoes and I felt depressed and it was all over."

53-24 Vote Represents U.S. Victory

Peace Commission Decides To Delay Congo Departure

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The U.N. General Assembly Tuesday night gave its vacant Congo seat to a delegation headed by President Joseph Kasavubu.

By a vote of 53-24 with 19 abstentions the assembly upheld a recommendation of its Credentials Committee that it seat Kasavubu.

The vote represented a victory for the United States and other Western supporters of Kasavubu, and a defeat for the Soviet bloc and a considerable number of Asian-African nations.

Just before the vote was taken the U.N.'s Asian-African Conciliation Commission decided to delay its scheduled departure Tuesday night for Leopoldville on a peace-making mission.

The decision to postpone the departure came after Kasavubu sent a letter to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold objecting to dispatch of the mission at this time to the violence-wracked Congo.

Dag Balks At Disclosure

The assembly called upon Hammarskjold to disclose its contents, but he refused to do so on the grounds he received it not as secretary-general but as head of the U.N. Advisory Committee that decided to dispatch the Conciliation Commission.

Earlier the assembly beat down a last ditch attempt to adjourn debate pending a report from Hammarskjold on anti-U.N. violence in the Congo. Ghana made the move with support of the Soviet bloc.

Immediately after the vote Mali announced its withdrawal from the conciliation commission, and a meeting of the Advisory Committee was called to consider the over-all situation. It is made up of all nations who have contributed troops to the 20,000-man U.N. Congo force.

Jaja Wuchuku, Nigerian delegate who was named chairman of the conciliation group, refused to take part in the vote on approval of the Credentials Committee's recommendation.

He told the assembly he could not do so as head of the conciliation mission, or as a representative of an African country.

Three Versions Of Clash

Meanwhile, Hammarskjold circulated a report from his acting special representative in the Congo, Indian Brig. Gen. Indarjit Rikhye, saying there were three different versions as to how Monday night's clash between Congolese and U.N. forces started. Two of the versions, he said, indicated that U.N. troops opened fire first.

"A number of independent witnesses," he said, "have stated that firing began on the U.N. Command side but only in answer to a mass charge from the Congolese side."

He placed the number of casualties at one dead and nine wounded on the U.N. side and one dead and one wounded on Congolese side. One of the dead was Congolese Col. Joseph Kokolo.

The assembly voted 50-34 with 13 abstentions against a motion by Ghana Delegate J. E. Jantuah to adjourn the debate pending an official report from Hammarskjold. Jantuah said it was impossible to consider seating a government "whose militia has attacked the United Nations."

But U.S. Delegate James J. Wadsworth blamed Ghana for the violence.

He said Ghana's refusal to follow normal diplomatic procedure in acceding to a request from Kasavubu for recall of its charve d'affaires, Nathaniel Welbeck, caused Monday night's battle between U.N. soldiers and the army of Col. Joseph Mobutu.

Britain, Italy Agree On Need For Summit

ROME (AP) —British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan told the Italian people Monday night he believes the West is ready to met with Soviet Premier Khrushchev "if there is a chance of reaching reasonably negotiated settlements."

Macmillan, who has been holding talks with Italian officials, appeared in a filmed interview on Italian television.

"Of course, I think the position of the West is quite clear," he said. "We have to maintain our strength, we have to maintain our unity, but at the same time we should always be ready to negotiate, to discuss, and to seek—if we can—solutions for the most pressing problems."

A joint British-Italian communique said Italy agreed on the need for a summit meeting.

Garner Sees No Radical Changes Under Kennedy

UVALDE, Tex. (AP) — John Nance (Cactus Jack) Garner, 92 Tuesday, doesnt' expect sweeping changes under the Kennedy-Johnson administration, but hopes it will compare with the Roosevelt-Garner team elected in 1932.

Although he shuns an active part in politics, Garner—the only man to hold the offices of speaker of the House and vice president in succession—has some advice for young politicians: "If you want to hold office, don't make any promises."

The former vice president was plainly delighted at achieving his oft-expressed desire to live to be 92 so he could say he spent half his life in public service and half as a private citizen.

He chuckled happily as Cele Briscoe, 4, presented him with a cake trimmed in roses and bearing two candles. He laughed when the girl dipped her finger in the icing, licked it and turned to give him a kiss.

"God bless you," he said again and again to visitors. Most were residents of this southwest Texas town where Garner entered politics as a county judge when Grover Cleveland was president.

"You make me feel young again" he told members of a high school band which serenaded him with "Happy Birthday" in the driveway of his modest frame home.

Despite his snow-white, wispy hair and bushy eyebrows, Garner had a youthful air about him as he recalled his frequently tempestuous 38 years in Washington—a career that ended when he broke with Franklin D. Roosevelt over the issue of the latter's third term.

River Compact To Face Initial Test On Friday

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Judge Matthew S. Evans has agreed to hear arguments Friday in Anne Arundel Circuit Court on a motion by the State to dismiss a pre-trial maneuver by Hyman Pressman in challenging the legality of Maryland's new Potomac River Compact with Virginia.

Pressman filed notice in the court last week to take depositions from Secretary of State Thomas B .Finan and others on Pressman's charges that the compact was not properly advertised before it was approved by Maryland voters in the Nov. 8 general election.

The attorney general filed a motion to quash Pressman's motion. Judge Evans heard some preliminary arguments Tuesday and set a full hearing for Friday.

Pressman said the action is a preliminary to his filing suit to block the state from declaring the compact ratified. He represents Southern Maryland watermen who are opposed to the treaty establishing a bi-state commission with Virginia to govern the Potomac's fishing resources.

If Pressman wins the preliminary action there will be no need for him to file the suit.

He claims the secretary of state's office failed to follow the required procedure of advertising a referendum in advance of the election.

It added that there is a chance of afternoon rain or showers in the Middle Mississippi Valley.

The forecast said:

Laos Premier Will Ask For, Get Soviet Aid

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma said Tuesday his neutralist government will ask the Soviet Union for all the aid—economic, military or otherwise—it is willing to give.

Soviet Ambassador Alexander N. Abramov flew into Vientiane a few hours later and said his country will be "only too happy to oblige."

Souvanna told newsmen his hard-pressed government needs "all the aid we can get."

Asked if this would include military aid, he replied: "Yes, all the aid we can get. We are short of everything. Our goods are being held up by Thailand's blockade and we need everything."

Souvanna said he will evade the Thai blockade by flying the Soviet supplies in from the Communist North Vietnamese cities of Hanoi and Haiphong.

Regular channels through Thailand have been blocked since the Aug. 9 coup that put Souvanna into power. The Thai government has lifted the blockade for brief periods to let in emergency supplies of rice and gasoline.

Souvanna charges that American aid, poured into this Southeast Asian kingdom to the tune of $270 million since 1954, has been going in greater amounts lately to the rebel right-wing regime of Gen. Phoumi Nosavan in Savannakhet.

The U.S. Embassy here says the aid agreement is to supply the entire Laotian army, even though it is split between the general and the premier.

Hercules Buys Industrial Rayon Plant At Covington

COVINGTON, Va. (AP)—Industrial Rayon Corp. Tuesday announced the sale of its plant here to Hercules Powder Co. at an undisclosed price.

Frederick L. Bissinger, Industrial Rayon president, said in a statement that "substantial losses have been incurred in the sale of products" made at the Covington plant during the last several years. The company has both nylon and rayon operations here.

Albert E. Forster, Hercules president, said his company will convert the facilities to the production of polypropylene fibers which will be used in connection with the expanding development of new markets for basic resin produced by Hercules.

When the plant is converted and expanded, Forster said, it will have an annual capacity of 10 million pounds of polypropylene staple fibers and continuous multifilament yarns.

Bissinger said Industrial Rayon, which has headquarters in Cleveland, will consolidate its rayon textile yarn manufacturing early in 1961 at its Painesville, Ohio, plant, a major supplier of tire cord.

Bissinger said Industrial Rayon will assign a special group to develop and carry out a program for locating job opportunities for personnel in the Covington plant. At present nearly 1,000 persons are employed by Industrial Rayon here.

Navy, Army Forces Over Budget Average

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy's manpower strength has increased about 9,000 over the average total set in the present budget, a routine report on manning levels for the armed forces showed Tuesday.

The estimated personnel total for the Navy on Oct. 31 was 628,362. The budget prescribes an average of about 619,000 for the fiscal year that ends next June 30.

Total numerical strength for all the armed forces as of Oct. 31 was estimated at 2,502,145. Army strength was 881,115; Air Force 815,700; Marine Corps, 176,948.

The Army strength, at 881,115, also was above the average of 870,000 fixed by the budget.

Hercules Buys Industrial Rayon Plant At Covington

COVINGTON, Va. (AP)—Industrial Rayon Corp. Tuesday announced the sale of its plant here to Hercules Powder Co. at an undisclosed price.

Frederick L. Bissinger, Industrial Rayon president, said in a statement that "substantial losses have been incurred in the sale of products" made at the Covington plant during the last several years. The company has both nylon and rayon operations here.

Albert E. Forster, Hercules president, said his company will convert the facilities to the production of polypropylene fibers which will be used in connection with the expanding development of new markets for basic resin produced by Hercules.

When the plant is converted and expanded, Forster said, it will have an annual capacity of 10 million pounds of polypropylene staple fibers and continuous multifilament yarns.

Bissinger said Industrial Rayon, which has headquarters in Cleveland, will consolidate its rayon textile yarn manufacturing early in 1961 at its Painesville, Ohio, plant, a major supplier of tire cord.

Bissinger said Industrial Rayon will assign a special group to develop and carry out a program for locating job opportunities for personnel in the Covington plant. At present nearly 1,000 persons are employed by Industrial Rayon here.

Two Little Girls Missing Overnight Found Soliciting Funds For "Church"

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two little girls soliciting funds in a door-to-door campaign for a non-existant church were picked up Tuesday by Police Sgt. Frank Kisielewski.

The youngsters showed the officer a few coins they had collected.

Sgt. Kisielewski took the children to the Essex Police station—and an all-night search by more than 100 volunteers was over.

The girls — 11-year-old Wilma Jane Smith and her 9-year-old sister, Donna Vilma Smith — had played hookey from school Monday, and slept overnight in a field.

Police said the girls apparently were afraid to go home for fear of being punished for staying away from school.

The youngsters had a tearful reunion with their mother, Mrs. John Przybysz, at the police station. The mother, sobbing with relief that the children were safe, embraced both girls.

During the long night of searching, policemen, firemen, Civil Defense volunteers, Boy Scouts and neighbors had combed the area for the girls. They were found eight miles from home.

Youth Leadership Contest Being Sponsored By Elks

Citing development of the leadership ability in America's youth as "one of the most pressing tasks facing the nation," Paul G. Stakem, exalted ruler of Cumberland Lodge 63, B.P.O. Elks, announced yesterday the opening of the 11th annual Elks National Youth Leadership Contest.

Stakem said Cumberland public and parochial high schools will submit entries in the local contest to select a boy and girl winner. Winners here will receive a $25 Savings Bond each and their brochures submitted to the Maryland-Delaware-District of Columbia Elks Association for judging to determine a state winner.

State winners, again a boy and girl, will receive $100 Savings Bond and become eligible to compete in the national contest which will be judged by a panel of nationally-prominent citizens. In the final contest, prizes, identical for boys and girls, will be a $1,000 Savings Bond for first; $500 for second and $300 for third.

Stakem said the local contest is being conducted by John E. Byrd Jr., lecturing knight of the lodge, and chairman of leadership and scholarship committees.

Stakem emphasized this is not a scholastic competition, adding "Those named as winners may or may not excel scholastically. We are looking for boys and girls who are recognized by their classmates and youthful associates and by their teachers, clergymen, coaches, parents and citizens as leaders."

being sponsored by more than 1,900 Elks lodges and is open to boys and girls under 19 years of age. Contestants will be judged on their records for demonstrated leadership, Americanism and citizenship appreciation, stability, resourcefulness and sense of honor.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Your personality is wired for sound!

Telephone Pleasure Or Pill—Which Are You?

How would you rate your telephone personality? Since you cannot be seen, the impression you make depends entirely on your voice, your speech and your etiquette!

Is your voice well-modulated? A high-pitched shrill voice is an affront to the listener!

Are you a who-is-this-er? It's a telephone rudeness practiced by many. The considerate, "Who's calling, please?" gets the desired information without offending.

When calling, do you always give your name? It eliminates the first question in the mind of everyone who answers a phone, and is necessary courtesy, when you fail to reach the person with whom you wished to speak. There is nothing quite so irritating as to be told "someone" called while you were out.

Do you limit your calls to three minutes . . . or as little longer as may be necessary? There's no excuse for the forty-five minute "chat." And it's pure poison when you're on a party line or using a public telephone.

Do you think twice before using another's telephone? Never, never use it for a long distance call unless it's an absolute necessity; then be sure to leave the correct amount to pay for it. Try not to receive social calls in your office or place of business. Woe to the lass who ties up the office lines with numerous calls to friends, relatives and acquaintances!

Do you make a point of not overhearing another's personal call? Leave the room, if possible. Or busy yourself with something else. To merely sit and listen makes you appear just too curious!

With a liberal sprinkling of "thank you" and "please," a pleasant voice and a thought for the people around you, you may be sure you will be a telephone pleasure and not a telephone pill!

Tax Exemption Commission May Be Named

Discussion of the possible selection of a commission to study the county's 10-year tax exemption for new and expanding industries was held yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the board, said such a study and report to the county commissioners should be made so that any needed changes in the law could be submitted to the legislature.

A decision on such a commission will be made at one of the board meetings next week. It is planned to select representatives from among industry, labor and the Bar Association. The size of the commission has not been decided, but it will probably have at least six members.

The County Assessment Department will assist the commission with facts and figures on the tax exemptions granted in the county since the law was passed some years ago. A complete report on the assessments and amounts of taxes which have been exempted is on file with the department.

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge.

Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONAID gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONAID moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONAID'S unequalled rebulking action helps retone flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONAID acts gently, on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon.

COLONAID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONAID won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONAID today! INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢

Youth Leadership Contest Being Sponsored By Elks

Citing development of the leadership ability in America's youth as "one of the most pressing tasks facing the nation," Paul G. Stakem, exalted ruler of Cumberland Lodge 63, B.P.O. Elks, announced yesterday the opening of the 11th annual Elks National Youth Leadership Contest.

Stakem said Cumberland public and parochial high schools will submit entries in the local contest to select a boy and girl winner. Winners here will receive a $25 Savings Bond each and their brochures submitted to the Maryland-Delaware-District of Columbia Elks Association for judging to determine a state winner.

State winners, again a boy and girl, will receive $100 Savings Bond and become eligible to compete in the national contest which will be judged by a panel of nationally-prominent citizens. In the final contest, prizes, identical for boys and girls, will be a $1,000 Savings Bond for first; $500 for second and $300 for third.

Stakem said the local contest is being conducted by John E. Byrd Jr., lecturing knight of the lodge, and chairman of leadership and scholarship committees.

Stakem emphasized this is not a scholastic competition, adding "Those named as winners may or may not excel scholastically. We are looking for boys and girls who are recognized by their classmates and youthful associates and by their teachers, clergymen, coaches, parents and citizens as leaders."

being sponsored by more than 1,900 Elks lodges and is open to boys and girls under 19 years of age. Contestants will be judged on their records for demonstrated leadership, Americanism and citizenship appreciation, stability, resourcefulness and sense of honor.

The trumpeter swan has staged a dramatic comeback from the brink of extinction. In 1935 only 46 adult trumpeters could be counted in the United States. Today, thanks to conservation, 1,500 of the lordly birds live in the continental United States and Canada.

DANCE GROUP ON TV—The Dixettes, local precision dance team from the Dixon Dance Studio, are shown as they will appear on the Ted Mack Original Amateur Hour in a nationwide telecast on CBS Sunday, December 4, from 5 to 5:30 p. m. The 12 members of the team range in age from 13 to 17. They taped the show in advance during a recent visit to New York.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Your personality is wired for sound!

Telephone Pleasure Or Pill—Which Are You?

How would you rate your telephone personality? Since you cannot be seen, the impression you make depends entirely on your voice, your speech and your etiquette!

Is your voice well-modulated? A high-pitched shrill voice is an affront to the listener!

Are you a who-is-this-er? It's a telephone rudeness practiced by many. The considerate, "Who's calling, please?" gets the desired information without offending.

When calling, do you always give your name? It eliminates the first question in the mind of everyone who answers a phone, and is necessary courtesy, when you fail to reach the person with whom you wished to speak. There is nothing quite so irritating as to be told "someone" called while you were out.

Do you limit your calls to three minutes . . , or as little longer as may be necessary? There's no excuse for the forty-five minute "chat." And it's pure poison when you're on a party line or using a public telephone.

Do you think twice before using another's telephone? Never, never use it for a long distance call unless it's an absolute necessity; then be sure to leave the correct amount to pay for it. Try not to receive social calls in your office or place of business. Woe to the lass who ties up the office lines with numerous calls to friends, relatives and acquaintances!

Do you make a point of not overhearing another's personal call? Leave the room, if possible. Or busy yourself with something else. To merely sit and listen makes you appear just too curious!

With a liberal sprinkling of "thank you" and "please," a pleasant voice and a thought for the people around you, you may be sure you will be a telephone pleasure and not a telephone pill!

Tax Exemption Commission May Be Named

Discussion of the possible selection of a commission to study the county's 10-year tax exemption for new and expanding industries was held yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the board, said such a study and report to the county commissioners should be made so that any needed changes in the law could be submitted to the legislature.

A decision on such a commission will be made at one of the board meetings next week. It is planned to select representatives from among industry, labor and the Bar Association. The size of the commission has not been decided, but it will probably have at least six members.

The County Assessment Department will assist the commission with facts and figures on the tax exemptions granted in the county since the law was passed some years ago. A complete report on the assessments and amounts of taxes which have been exempted is on file with the department.

County Cites Federal Aid Road Work

Two road projects under federal aid have been decided upon by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

One mile will be constructed on both the Oliver Beltz Road and Town Creek Road next construction season. A contract for the engineering and programming of the road work has been made with Baker, Wibberley and Associates, Inc., a Hagerstown firm of consulting engineers.

The total fees for such work on the Oliver Beltz Road, the Town Creek Road will be $3,900 each.

Fred Moyer, a representative of the firm, met with the board yesterday along with Harry Skelly, county roads engineer, to discuss the work which will be done.

Allegany County is eligible for federal aid and there is enough money involved to pay for the two projects.

Mayor, Wife To See Army-Navy Game

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge.

Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONAID gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONAID moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONAID'S unequalled rebulking action helps retone flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONAID acts gently, on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon.

COLONAID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONAID won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONAID today! INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — "The Short, Happy Life of Francis Macomber," Ernest Hemingway's story, rang a bell when I was told that it's to be remade. Then I remembered that United Artists made "The Macomber Affair," which starred Gregory Peck as the white hunter, Joan Bennett as the wife of Francis Macomber, and Robert Preston as Macomber.

Arthur Landau, who made it for U.A., has retained his interest in the rights and he will now remake it with Montgomery Clift in the role of the white hunter and James Mason as Francis Macomber. No girl has been set for the Joan Bennett role. The title has been changed to "The Hunter" and they are negotiating with Edward Dmytryk to direct it in Africa in February from Robert Blees' script. The deal was made in New York with Clift, who has been there since he finished "Misfits."

Talk about acquiring a potential hit from the incubator—in a deal between Sam Briskin and agent Abe Lastfogel, Columbia has bought the stage and screen rights to "The King From Ashtabula" by Vern Sneider who wrote "Teahouse of the August Moon."

Although "The King from Ashtabula" just hit the bookstands and has not been put in play or movie form, Mortan da Costa has been signed to produce and direct both the play (which goes first) and then the movie. Operating from this long range, naturally, no stars are set. Like "Teahouse," "The King, etc.", is a whimsical comedy involving oriental and western ways and has five top roles.

Two radiantly happy people, Arlene Dahl and Chris Holmes, planed in from New York for a happy old fashioned Thanksgiving at their new home in Pacific Palisades. Arlene said she had discussed playing Roxanne in a modern version of Cyrano de Bergerac, which will open on Broadway in the spring.

"I wish it were true that we are having a baby," Arlene said. "We do hope to have a big family, but I want to do a Broadway show first, and possibly a motion picture."

Chris then got on the telephone and said that one of his sons is spending Thanksgiving with him and Arlene, also Lorenzo (her son, age 2½).

And my brother will be with us and my father, too," said Arlene.

Picture or no picture, Jean Pierre Aumont is leaving for Paris to spend Christmas with his wife, Marisa Pavan and their two children. It will be a very brief visit, however, because Jean Pierre, the travelingest actor in America, is due to report in Buenos Aires for "The Sleeping Partner," a melodrama he will make for Frederico Aicardi, for whom he recently made "The Blonde From Buenos Aires," also in Brazil.

Jean Pierre arrived here a few days ago from Hawaii where he made "The Devil at Four O'Clock." While he's been in town he's been discussing "Apple Pie Bed," Jean Negulesco's big project, so it looks as if the handsome Jean Pierre will have plenty of jobs to keep Marisa and their children in the proper style.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The advice you gave to "Worried Kids" whose father took up with a woman 40 years his junior, stank. We had a similar situation and this is what happened:

Dad started to date this girl who was 30 years younger. He bought her expensive clothes and jewelry. She drove his car everywhere. I tried to talk some sense into his head but it was useless. Finally I got so disgusted I forgot I was a lady and pulled several chunks of her blonde hair out by the black roots.

Well, Dad married her. Four months later he died of a heart attack. We are now engaged in a nasty court fight. The bills she ran up are charged to my father so the estate must pay them. This means part of MY money is going to pay HER bills!

If I had it to do over again I would manage somehow to make my Dad see the error of his ways. He would be alive today instead of dead at 63.—BEEN THROUGH IT

DEAR BEEN: Your response to my advice (which stank) is so illogical I don't know where to begin! You say if you had it to do over you'd manage somehow to make him see the error of his ways. Like how? What more could you have said or done—short of murder?

My advice to "Worried Kids" was to express themselves — then keep quiet. Beyond that, there's nothing that CAN be done. Your experience proved I was right.

DEAR ANN: Football season has made my life unbearable. My husband is an avid fan and would rather die than miss a game. We have two children, 12 and 9. We go to the games together—as a family.

This sounds just charming, doesn't it?—well, wait. My husband always (and I do mean always) takes a bottle of whisky along with him. He drinks right out of the bottle, so he doesn't realize how much goes down. By the time the game is over he doesn't know if he saw a football game or a polo match.

I think this is a terrible example to set for the children and have told him so. He says the important thing is that the kids will always remember we went to the football game together How about this?—COMPLAINING WIFE

DEAR WIFE: You have a right to complain. Do you know what the kids will remember? When Wisconsin played Iowa Pa was slopped to the eyeballs and had to be led out of the stadium. Any man who can't be without a belt for three hours sounds like a candidate for A. A.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Have you had many kickbacks, pro or con on your Landers' Rules For Chewing Gum? I'd like to stick in my two cents worth, if I may.

Many years ago when I was at dear ol' Northwestern High in Detroit, a wonderful Latin teacher taught us two lessons wrapped up in one. The correct Latin construction of this sentence has long since left my memory — but the sense of the sentence has stuck. Here it is: "THE GIRL WOULD HAVE BEEN PRETTY IF SHE HAD NOT BEEN CHEWING GUM."—CLASS OF '31

CONFIDENTIAL TO OVER-PROTECTED: Applesauce, Toots. Your mother is the one who has to pull you out of the sack in the morning — not your friends. Discipline yourself and get to bed an hour earlier.

UNDECIDED: Let the cat out of the bag before that cat has kittens. The sooner the better.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Necking and petting — And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The bidding:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♥ | Pass | 2 ♥ | Pass |
| 4 ♥ | Pass | Pass | Pass |

Opening lead: Five of ♥

The contract of four hearts was reasonable enough but, when the five of hearts was opened, the prospects for fulfilment were not at all bright. That West held the ace of clubs now became somewhat better than an even chance and, if the queen of spades did not drop, the potential losers were a spade, a diamond and two clubs. An end play, therefore, had to be plotted against West. In order to attain this goal, both hands would have to be stripped of diamonds and then the lead given to West late in the play, with the queen of spades (if he had it) thus compelling him to lead a club.

At trick two, therefore, South, after winning the opening lead with the queen of hearts, led the three of diamonds from dummy, hoping to pass the trick into the West hand and thus protect the king of clubs against an immediate attack. East, however, foiled that part of the scheme by inserting the queen of diamonds which declarer ducked. Here West committed an indiscretion. He signaled with the nine of diamonds He hoped that the diamond continuation would permit him to make the jack of hearts on an overruff. West should rather have welcomed a shift to clubs and ought not to have taken any step that might divert his partner from that line of defense. East, noticing his partner's nine of diamonds, continued with the suit. This, too, was doubtful strategy. Even if partner held the ace of diamonds, there would be no hurry about leading the suit, and East should devote his one leading opportunity to do something for his partner.

South won with the ace of diamonds, drew the two remaining trumps, ruffed the last diamond in his own hand, and then played the ace, king and another spade. West was burdened with the lead, and the forced club play permitted declarer to make his king.

An earthling who landed on either of the two tiny moons of Mars would weigh less than an ounce because of the low surface gravity. The slightest jump would send him soaring off into space.

Seoul has been the capital of Korea for more than five and one-half centuries.

If I had it to do over again I would manage somehow to make my Dad see the error of his ways. He would be alive today instead of dead at 63.—BEEN THROUGH IT

DEAR BEEN: Your response to my advice (which stank) is so illogical I don't know where to begin! You say if you had it to do over you'd manage somehow to make him see the error of his ways. Like how? What more could you have said or done—short of murder?

My advice to "Worried Kids" was to express themselves — then keep quiet. Beyond that, there's nothing that CAN be done. Your experience proved I was right.

DEAR ANN: Football season has made my life unbearable. My husband is an avid fan and would rather die than miss a game. We have two children, 12 and 9. We go to the games together—as a family.

This sounds just charming, doesn't it?—well, wait. My husband always (and I do mean always) takes a bottle of whisky along with him. He drinks right out of the bottle, so he doesn't realize how much goes down. By the time the game is over he doesn't know if he saw a football game or a polo match.

I think this is a terrible example to set for the children and have told him so. He says the important thing is that the kids will always remember we went to the football game together. How about this?—COMPLAINING WIFE

DEAR WIFE: You have a right to complain. Do you know what the kids will remember? When Wisconsin played Iowa Pa was slopped to the eyeballs and had to be led out of the stadium. Any man who can't be without a belt for three hours sounds like a candidate for A. A.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Have you had many kickbacks, pro or con on your Landers' Rules For Chewing Gum? I'd like to stick in my two cents worth, if I may.

Many years ago when I was at dear ol' Northwestern High in Detroit, a wonderful Latin teacher taught us two lessons wrapped up in one. The correct Latin construction of this sentence has long since left my memory — but the sense of the sentence has stuck. Here it is: "THE GIRL WOULD HAVE BEEN PRETTY IF SHE HAD NOT BEEN CHEWING GUM."—CLASS OF '31

CONFIDENTIAL TO OVER-PROTECTED: Applesauce, Toots. Your mother is the one who has to pull you out of the sack in the morning — not your friends. Discipline yourself and get to bed an hour earlier.

UNDECIDED: Let the cat out of the bag before that cat has kittens. The sooner the better.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Necking and petting — And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The bidding:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♥ | Pass | 2 ♥ | Pass |
| 4 ♥ | Pass | Pass | Pass |

Opening lead: Five of ♥

The contract of four hearts was reasonable enough but, when the five of hearts was opened, the prospects for fulfilment were not at all bright. That West held the ace of clubs now became somewhat better than an even chance and, if the queen of spades did not drop, the potential losers were a spade, a diamond and two clubs. An end play, therefore, had to be plotted against West. In order to attain this goal, both hands would have to be stripped of diamonds and then the lead given to West late in the play, with the queen of spades (if he had it) thus compelling him to lead a club.

At trick two, therefore, South, after winning the opening lead with the queen of hearts, led the three of diamonds from dummy, hoping to pass the trick into the West hand and thus protect the king of clubs against an immediate attack. East, however, foiled that part of the scheme by inserting the queen of diamonds which declarer ducked. Here West committed an indiscretion. He signaled with the nine of diamonds. He hoped that the diamond continuation would permit him to make the jack of hearts on an overruff. West should rather have welcomed a shift to clubs and ought not to have taken any step that might divert his partner from that line of defense. East, noticing his partner's nine of diamonds, continued with the suit. This, too, was doubtful strategy. Even if partner held the ace of diamonds, there would be no hurry about leading the suit, and East should devote his one leading opportunity to do something for his partner.

South won with the ace of diamonds, drew the two remaining trumps, ruffed the last diamond in his own hand, and then played the ace, king and another spade. West was burdened with the lead, and the forced club play permitted declarer to make his king.

An earthling who landed on either of the two tiny moons of Mars would weigh less than an ounce because of the low surface gravity. The slightest jump would send him soaring off into space.

Seoul has been the capital of Korea for more than five and one-half centuries.

County Purchases Flood Bonds It Issued In 1952

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday authorized Commissioner John T. Mason to purchase a number of flood control bonds which the county issued in 1952 at a discount.

In 1952 the county issued $1 million in bonds for the Cumberland flood control project. The bonds were sold at 1.9 per cent interest.

Mason said the county can buy $13,000 face value worth of bonds at $82.10 for each $100 bond. An investment banking firm, E. H. Pringle and Company, Charleston, S. C., offered the bonds to the county at the discount.

The bonds which the county will purchase from contingent funds will mature in 1972 and the county will realize a saving of approximately $2,800 in interest and the discount price. The total saving to the county will be $5,187, Mason said.

W&L Establishes Research Fund

LEXINGTON, Va. (UPI) — A $300,000 donation to Washington & Lee University for establishment of a Robert E. Lee Research fund was contributed by the late Dr. G. B. Capito, Charleston, W. Va., it was disclosed Monday.

W&L president Fred C. Cole said Capito had not wanted to be identified as the donor at the time the announcement was made Oct. 22. Capito died one week later while visiting relatives in Middletown, Ohio.

Ohio Couple Waives Extradition

A young Ohio couple was nabbed in Romney, W. Va. this past week end in connection with issuing bad checks.

The pair, Richard J. Butler, 19, and Alice Ann Gribler, 22, were arrested after passing a bad check on a Romney food market.

Police said the couple after entering the store talked the manager into cashing a check for $20. Before the couple had left, the manager became suspicious and got back his money from Butler.

Romney Police Chief Luther Hutter and State Trooper William Steffick were notified and they apprehended the couple in a parked car near the food market.

During questioning the couple admitted to passing seven bad checks in Virginia and one at Parkersburg, W. Va.

The couple waived extradition Monday and were taken to Leesburg, Va., to await trial on the seven check charges there.

Building Projects Held Up By Sewage Problems

J. B. Dowling, state sanitarian, and Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, met with the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday on sewage problems in several sections which are holding up building projects.

Dowling explained that the State Board of Health is handling the matter and submitted a list of the projects which are affected.

On Bedford Road a proposed building program of 25 homes costing an estimated $185,000 is being delayed for lack of suitable sewage facilities. The area is known as Growdenville and is about four miles from Cumberland.

A project for 45 homes in Narrows Park costing $300,000 is also involved. Commissioner John J. Rowan said the proposed building in this area will probably have to meet zoning regulations of LaVale before the sewage problem is cleared up.

The low income housing project in Frostburg and a new building for Frostburg State Teachers College were also listed. A trailer court just below Frostburg is also on the list of projects being held up by the sewage problem.

Dowling said that the persons interested in these projects are unable to find out to whom they should talk to concerning the situation or what group or groups have the authority to enter into discussions on the matter.

Setting up a county sanitary commission would be one of the first steps to get action on these problems, Dowling said.

The commissioners said that the countywide sewage problem has been in existence for many years and it will take more than a few years to solve many of these acute problems.

A meeting is scheduled Friday at 7:30 p. m. at the Court House at which time George Grier, county planner from Carroll County, will discuss sanitation, with emphasis on sewage disposal programs.

Commissioner John T. Mason said that next Tuesday the County Commissioners will meet and some action on sewage will be taken at that time.

Choral Society Rehearsal Set

The Cumberland Choral Society will rehearse Monday at 8 p. m. in the educational building of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in preparation for the group's two presentations of Handel's "Messiah."

On Monday, December 5, the choral society will present the Christmas oratorio at the Romney Elementary School auditorium.

On Sunday, December 11, at 3 p. m. the oratorio will be given in the Allegany High School auditorium.

Fifteen years after the end of World War II, land mines still are a hazard in the coastal area of Libya. Oil companies spend thousands of dollars a month to clear land mines left by desert armies that crossed the area during the war.

Rocket Engine Of X15 Passes Restart Test

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI)—Pilot Scott Crossfield opened the throttle of the X15 to 100 per cent thrust Tuesday, and then cut off power for 15 seconds in the first successful test of the rocket engine's restarting ability.

Crossfield — his speed brakes open to keep the X15 within a prescribed "speed limit" — had the throttle at 100 per cent for four seconds. Originally, he was expected to open the throttle to "only" 75 per cent.

The stub-winged, needle-nosed ship streaked across the sky, trailing an arrow-like streak of vapor, reaching a speed of almost 1,900 miles per hour and an altitude of 62,000 feet in Tuesday's test.

"That a boy, that a boy!" chase pilot Bob White, an Air Force major shouted excited over the radio as the life-saving restart ability was tested. "Thanks a lot, buddy," said Crossfield, appearing to breathe heavily as his voice came over the radio.

A principal built-in feature of the X15 is that the engine is designed to shut down automatically in case of any technical or mechanical failure. After such a failure, the engine's system is capable of giving off fuel and its pumps work to clear up the trouble. The pilot then could restart the engine.

The X15 is designed to go at least 100 miles high at speeds of 4,000 miles per hour. Crossfield, who flew the X15 with the 57,000-pound thrust engine for the first time a week ago, figures it will go higher than 100 miles, and 500 miles an hour faster.

Ford Wins Approval

NEW YORK (UPI) — United States Steel Corp. announced plans for construction of a third galvanized steel sheet production line at its Gary Sheet and Tin Mill at Gary, Ind., scheduled for operation about the middle of 1962.

Laborers To Meet

Offices Close Today

Police Report 'Murder By Car'

ALBION, Mich. (UPI) — Police said oilfield worker Edward R. Sanders, 40, Carmi, Ill., was crushed to death early Tuesday in a case of "murder by automobile."

They arrested Lawrence Jackson, 26, an Albion glass worker, in the case and took him to East Lansing state police headquarters for a lie detector test. Results of the tests were expected to be revealed late Tuesday.

Sanders was crushed to death against the wall of a restaurant in a parking lot early Tuesday morning.

Police found the hood ornament of an automobile at the death scene and traced it to Jackson's car. The torpedo-shaped ornament had pierced Sanders' chest.

Jackson admitted driving the car which killed Sanders but said the death was an accident and that he believed his car was in reverse when he switched on the ignition.

Police, however, said they had 12 witnesses who saw Jackson and Sanders brawling in a tavern Monday night, though none knew what the argument was about.

His first request upon regaining consciousness was for a cigaret.

Rocket Engine Of X15 Passes Restart Test

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI)—Pilot Scott Crossfield opened the throttle of the X15 to 100 per cent thrust Tuesday, and then cut off power for 15 seconds in the first successful test of the rocket engine's restarting ability.

Crossfield — his speed brakes open to keep the X15 within a prescribed "speed limit" — had the throttle at 100 per cent for four seconds. Originally, he was expected to open the throttle to "only" 75 per cent.

The stub-winged, needle-nosed ship streaked across the sky, trailing an arrow-like streak of vapor, reaching a speed of almost 1,900 miles per hour and an altitude of 62,000 feet in Tuesday's test.

"That a boy, that a boy!" chase pilot Bob White, an Air Force major shouted excited over the radio as the life-saving restart ability was tested. "Thanks a lot, buddy," said Crossfield, appearing to breathe heavily as his voice came over the radio.

A principal built-in feature of the X15 is that the engine is designed to shut down automatically in case of any technical or mechanical failure. After such a failure, the engine's system is capable of giving off fuel and its pumps work to clear up the trouble. The pilot then could restart the engine.

The X15 is designed to go at least 100 miles high at speeds of 4,000 miles per hour. Crossfield, who flew the X15 with the 57,000-pound thrust engine for the first time a week ago, figures it will go higher than 100 miles, and 500 miles an hour faster.

Saving Marshes For Wildlife

Does the great American population surge mean that one of the last great natural bounties of wildlife—the ducks and geese—must go the way of the buffalo and the passenger pigeon?

Waterfowl are in sharp decline but they still number in the millions because most of them are hatched and reared in Canada in areas until lately beyond the reach of agriculture.

But if the agricultural squeeze on them up there is becoming serious—and it is—they face a much greater threat in the United States during their migrations and on their wintering grounds mostly in the southern states. The National Audubon Society now urges a "crash" program to acquire and save good marshland for waterfowl and other marsh life while it is still available.

President Carl W. Buchheister of the Audubon Society says: "At the present rate of drainage, filling, and development for other purposes, most of the available marshes will have been destroyed long before 30 years elapse." That is the period he says it would take to purchase four million acres of marshland with the yearly revenue from the $3 federal duck stamp.

The Audubon Society advocates government purchase of the land now, at a cost of $150 million, with duck stamp revenue paying it off. Much of the best marshland for wildlife has already disappeared. The parallel with the need for more parkland is clear. Like upland for parks, the marshlands can be saved only by purchase without delay.

It is unfortunate, of course, that the land was not acquired 25 years ago, when the cost would have been much lower.

The Scared Canadians

Many nationalistic Canadians suffer from an inferiority complex which causes them to say and do unrealistic silly things. For instance, should war occur again, it will be necessary for the United States to defend Canada from conquest. A nation with a total population no greater than that of New York State and with an industrial establishment no greater than that of Czechoslovakia cannot hope to defend itself in a modern war. Nor can it remain neutral because it is the easiest access to the United States and therefore an enemy of the United States would wisely seek to knock out Canada first. The first battles in an attack upon the United States by Soviet Russia or Red China or both are likely to be over Canada. The logistics of war require that both countries act as one and geography has so made it that Canada has no alternative.

Some jittery Canadians, recognizing the peril of such a situation, believe that they can solve this problem by becoming either neutral or anti-American. Were Americans to withdraw their investments from Canada, because of Canadian opposition to the United States, it could be a sorry day for both countries. What elicits these remarks is an article by Hugh MacLennan in the Toronto "Star Weekly," which, I should say, is as unfriendly an utterance against this country as I have yet seen anywhere. Addressing the President of the United States, MacLennan says:

"It may not surprise you, Mr. President, but it will certainly surprise most of your countrymen, to be told that at the moment the United States is considered a greater threat to world peace than Russia. Such a statement, I suppose, would make me suspected of Communism in many quarters. Yet it is a plain fact. Ask almost any foreigner."

This is not taken out of context. It is a bold statement, literally untrue but believed apparently by its author, who says further:

"It is impossible for the rest of mankind to accept a policy which says, in effect, that the whole human past and future must perish merely because two giant countries with big bombs refused to speak to each other save in terms of violent abuse.

When the giant who is our friend (we admit he has been sorely provoked) says in effect: 'We will blow up ourselves and everyone near us rather than permit Russia to become the most powerful nation in the world,' we weak outsiders tremble."

Does MacLennan prefer that we say that as an extension of the Marxist-Leninist theory of world conquest, the United States capitulate to Soviet Russia and become a satellite like Poland or East Germany? For that clearly is what every ruler of Communist Russia, Lenin, Stalin and Khrushchev, has held to be necessary. I think that MacLennan does mean that because he believes that in the next war, all would be wiped out. He holds that he, quoting Lester Pearson, would "choose to live under Russia and then try to work to improve the situation."

This is precisely where we must differ. From the general character of MacLennan's article, it is possible to recognize that he is not familiar with the Marxist-Leninist mission of world conquest. The literature on the subject is voluminous and one needs only to study the subject. But the Canadian assumes that during the past 10 years, the Russian purpose has been modified, all evidence to the contrary notwithstanding. He says:

". . . the Moscow conspiracy is already beginning to founder on the familiar rocks of nationalism. Tito broke with Moscow years ago. China, which many Americans seem to regard as a mere extension of Soviet power, is already beginning to snarl at Russia . . ."

Unfortunately the record shows that Yugoslavia votes regularly with Soviet Russia in the United Nations. From this practical manifestation of Marxist unity, it is obvious that whereas there are differences between Khrushchev and Tito, Marxist unity is not diluted. As for the ideological quarrel between Khrushchev and Mao Tze-tung over the question as to whether war is essential to the universal success of Marxism, the record establishes that this is an inner schism between fundamentalist Marxists and revisionist Marxists but that it does not affect either country's relations to non-Marxist countries.

It is unfortunate that the Canadian people are not better informed about the current situation than this article would indicate.

The Unfortunate Relay

U.S. Catholic Bishops State Significant Views

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — When the Catholic Bishops of the United States meet in Washington every year, they usually have something to say which is of interest not only to their co-religionists but to others as well. The meeting which has just been concluded has resulted in a statement of significance to all Americans and to peoples everywhere.

For the Bishops have placed an emphasis on "'the personal responsibility of free men," which, while not spelled out in detail, has an implicit meaning of transcendent importance today.

The Bishops, moreover, have put their finger on a weakness in many countries, including the United States, where there is a tendency to rely on organizations and economic pressure groups to obtain special favors and benefits.

There is not a word of politics in the Bishops' statement, but the text of it, when read carefully, has an indirect bearing on many subjects in the realm of education, labor and management, as well as of government.

"If our future is to be worthy of our past," says the statement, "if the fruit of America's promise is not to wither before it has reached full maturity, our present pre-eminent need is to reaffirm the sense of individual obligation, to place clearly before ourselves the foundation on which personal responsibility rests, to determine the causes of its decay and to seek the means by which it can be revived."

While the Bishops speak of the decline of "'personal responsibility" in the family and the failure of parents to fulfill their responsibilities in the home, stress is placed on the "'evidence of decline in the sense of responsibility within our industrial organization and in our general economic life." The declaration says:

"'At a time when so much depends upon the soundness of our economy and upon our ability to produce to meet the needs of a rapidly developing world, we have been faced by a frequent lack of truly responsible leadership, both on the part of management and of labor. Among the evident instances of the breakdown of personal responsibility most deplorable has been the widespread cynical reaction to the recent revelation of dishonesty, waste and malfeasance in industrial relations."

Of significance, too, is what the Bishops say about the pressures that "are growing for a constantly greater reliance on the collectivity rather than on the individual." Their statement continues:

"An inordinate demand for benefits, most easily secured by the pressures of organization, has led an ever-growing number of our people to relinquish their rights and to abdicate their responsibilities. This concession creates a widening spiral of increasing demands and pressures with a further infringement on personal freedom and responsibility. . . .

"Intensive socialization can achieve mass benefits, but man and morality can be seriously hurt in the process."

A great deal may be read into that particular paragraph in the light of recent pressures to have the government furnish financial aid "from the cradle to the grave" not only in this country but in Great Britain and in other countries of the world.

Pertinent, too, is the application by the Bishops of the phrase "personal responsibility" to the conduct of international affairs. The statement says:

'This tendency to delegate excessive responsibility to an organization is discernible also in the realm of international affairs. Some manifest no sense of personal responsibility in the affairs of the international community. On the other hand, many citizens seem to feel that our mere adherence to the United Nations absolves us from further responsibility in the international order and that decisions made by the United Nations, regardless of their objective value, are always to be regarded as morally right."

The Bishops concede the "undoubted value of a policy of supporting the United Nations," but insist nevertheless that citizens of the United States and of all countries "have a responsibility to judge and to evaluate the United Nations' deliberations and decisions according to objective norms of morality universally binding."

Perhaps the most interesting paragraph of all is what the Bishops have to say about the tendency to regard everything that is happening today as different from the past and hence as justifying courses of expediency. The Bishops speak on that point as follows:

"Through a faulty concept of morality modern man has come to imagine that sudden and drastic changes in situations change principles, that principles no longer control situations, but rather that situations shape principles. Inevitably this type of 'situational ethics' denies all unchanging principles and makes futile all moral judgments on which the sense of responsibility rests."

Really what the Bishops say about principles not being outmoded by current developments might apply equally well to that school of thought which feels that the Constitution of the United States can be rewritten by the judges of the Supreme Court at any time, just because conditions have changed.

In their concluding words, the Bishops point out that "an effective response to a call for personal responsibility need not wait for a mass movement." The message ends with this comment:

'Our appeal for action is made directly to our Catholic fellow citizens, but it reaches out also to all Americans who face the same problems as ourselves.

"Before it is too late, we must revive in our midst and present to the world the ideals that have been the real source of national greatness."

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

TACTICS OF FDR?—President-elect John F. Kennedy, who sought to compare his philosophy of government with that of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, has Washington politicos wondering about the same thing, now that he has won the election.

As Kennedy began to campaign for the Presidency four years ago, most of the politically wise here are convinced that his campaign for re-election in 1964 already has begun.

In some areas, Kennedy's liberal program can make progress under the present makeup of Congress. In other areas, notably civil rights, this is a patent impossibility.

The question in Washington is how far Kennedy will push in order to win the votes he needs in Congress to make good on his platform and campaign promises.

It is recalled that the late FDR found it necessary to wield all the presidential power at his command to push some of his reforms through Congress—and even then, he didn't always succeed.

Many political leaders here are convinced that Kennedy will have to resort to the same coercive measures as Roosevelt did if he is to go before the public for re-election four years hence. And no one doubts that Kennedy will make the run for a second term in the White House.

Roosevelt used threats, patronage, promises—anything—to swing key Congressional votes to his side. When all else failed, he even tried to defeat some members of his own political party at the polls. This was the famed Roosevelt "purge," that failed, but it succeeded in impressing Democratic Senators and Representatives with the lengths to which he would go to win his point.

Kennedy needs a record of accomplishment to win a second term. No one here doubts that he'll do his utmost to assure that record.

Nixon Declines To Approve Probes Of Alleged Frauds In Election

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—When Attorney General Bill Rogers went to see Vice President Nixon in Miami it was for more than Florida sunshine. He gave Nixon a plan to reverse the election of John F. Kennedy and make his close friend President of the United States.

Specifically Rogers asked Nixon whether he should impanel grand juries in the key electoral states of Illinois, Texas, New Jersey and Missouri to investigate alleged vote frauds.

On top of this, Rogers would bring an injunction against members of the electoral college to prevent them from casting their ballots for President until after the grand jury probes were completed. The Attorney General thought that he would be able to get a Federal Court to grant this injunction, but he wanted Nixon's OK before he proceeded.

The Vice President replied that the decision was not up to him, he was not Attorney General of the United States.

But he cautioned Rogers regarding the effect on American prestige if President-elect Kennedy were barred from office because of election frauds. If the United States reversed its election by an investigation which advertised to the world that our elections were dishonest, Nixon warned, it would really send U. S. prestige to a new low.

In the end, however, the Vice President left it up to Attorney General Rogers as to whether he should proceed with the grand jury probes.

Election-Went-Round

Inside reason why Sammy Davis, the Negro entertainer, and May Britt, Swedish actress, originally postponed their wedding was to save Senator Kennedy possible embarrassment on the eve of the election. Kennedy's brother-in-law, Peter Lawford, is a close friend of Sammy Daivs, and it was feared this Negro-white marriage might cause bad reaction with Southern voters—even though neither Kennedy nor Lawford had anything to do with it . . . Ezra Taft Benson, a good Mormon, doesn't drink coffee, so does not believe in coffee breaks. But he does believe in cranberry-juice breaks, and is doing everything possible to encourage them in order to get the cranberry business back on its feet . . . Here is what's happening to Ike's White House staff after Jan. 20: Gen. "Slick" Persons will retire in Florida. Gerald Morgan, counsel to Ike, will go back to his law practice in Washington. So will appointments secretary Tom Stevens. Jim Hagerty becomes vice president of the American Broadcasting Company. Jack Anderson will go back to his fruit farm in California. Other staff members are looking for cushy jobs around Washington.

Birds Jeopardize Airports

Birds have become such a problem around airports that the Federal Aviation Agency has allocated $100,000 to the Interior Department's Fish and Wildlife Service to find ways and means of keeping them away.

This is not a happy job for the Fish and Wildlife Service, because it was established for the specific purpose of protecting and preserving birds. It operates bird refuges all over the United States. However, the death of 62 persons in Boston because starlings got in the intakes of an Electra has forced Federal Aviation Authorities to worry about birds as never before.

The trouble is most of the nation's airports have been located in areas which birds and other wildlife love. Municipal airports usually pick cheap, low swampy lands where take-offs and landings can be over water, thus cutting down on the danger to local residences.

Birds love these areas, also the sun-warmed cement runways on chilly autumn days. Seagulls come into airports to escape ocean storms.

Wildlife scientists have already made a number of suggestions. Idlewild Airport was told to clean out the wax myrtle shrubs which had been planted between the runways to cut down on wind, but which are the favorite food of the tree swallow.

Boston has been told to destroy its tall weeds and seeds—roosting magnets for a number of birds, to eliminate the open-face dumps nearby where seagulls love to free load, and to fill in the airport ponds. Estimates are that such a fill-in will cost over a million dollars, but the bird problem can be solved only by making our airports less attractive to birds.

One of the most promising possibilities is that of using sound to scare birds away. Ultrasonic and electronic devices can be used which man doesn't hear but birds do. And it just isn't pleasant.

However, wildlife scientists say there is no one answer. We have to use a whole bagful of tricks. There are so many diverse species of birds that the problem is difficult.

A "School Bank"

New York bankers aren't going to like it, but Congressman Wright Patman of Texarkana, Texas, has come up with the idea of a Federal "bank" for schools to expedite the educational race with Russia.

The bank not only would handle the government's proposed expansion of loans to college students, but purchase state and local bonds needed to finance public school construction and teacher salary increases.

State and local bonds are now purchased to a large extent by big city banks and insurance companies, which profit first on interest, second on tax savings. There is no federal tax on interest earnings from such bonds.

Furthermore, the big private banks exercise a tight control on the market for this type of securities, with the result that school construction in many parts of the country is at the whim of the Wall Street investment moguls.

The Federal "school bank" Patman has in mind would provide a ready market for state and local bonds, at lower interest charges. In addition, all tax savings on interest revenues would revert to the taxpayers.

Patman's idea will be scored as "socialistic" on Wall Street, but the Texas Congressman argues it is no more socialistic than the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., which now underwrites bank deposits, or the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, established by the Hoover Administration for the purpose, among other things, of purchasing state and local bonds in the same way Patman wants the government to purchase school bonds.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

MIAMI, Fla. — There was a shower out of the east at noon. It hit the big palm trees like so many Easter hats and the golfers stood under the pro shop at Key Colony with Howard Hall, the most patient golf teacher in Florida. A dark car came along. The rain stopped as though someone had shut a valve. The sun came out and a man with fat blue jowls got out of the car.

It was Richard Nixon, who holds the office of Almost President of the United States. He grinned at the sky and said: "It's going to stop." It had. He said hello to Jack Kofoed and to me, and, for a moment, we swapped trivia. He looks deceptively short. He is solid and has a flat belt line. He said he felt good.

I reminded him that, on the day he was nominated in Chicago, we had spent every moment of it together until he went back to the Blackstone Hotel to watch the convention show on television. Mr. Nixon does not need to be reminded of anything. He has a mental file cabinet and he can yank anything out of it at will.

"That was the night you made a prediction based on an election in Minnesota," I said.

"No," he said. "It was North Dakota. What I said was that we had recently lost an election in that state by one vote per precinct. Just one. It made me shudder because, as I told you that night, the Presidential election could be lost the same way."

"Yes," I said. "It was North Dakota. You also told me that night that you felt you were starting off second in the race against Kennedy."

He leaned on a wood driver and laughed. "You didn't believe me," he said.

"No. I didn't believe you because I figured that the Republican Party was in power, and that power was behind you. Kennedy was the outsider. Power goes to power."

He looked down at his worn golf shoes and shook his head. His partner, Mr. C. Rebozo, a man of molasses skin with a perennial frown, stood waiting. "I told you," the Vice President said, "that I needed all the Republican votes, and that they would not be enough because the Democrats have more registered voters. Numerically, they have it. Thus I would need all the Republican votes plus some independent Democrats. Right?"

I nodded. I asked how little Julie was. Like all innocent hearts, she believes her daddy is the greatest. The Vice President's smile died quickly. "She's all right now," he said. "It isn't easy for a child to understand a situation like this."

"Who broke the news to her?"

"I did. When matters looked bad at 3 a. m. that morning, you may recall that I made an announcement to that effect. The children had been in bed for a long time, and they knew nothing of what was going on. It must have been on little Julie's mind. I was sitting in my room with Pat, just thinking, at 6 a. m. when Julie got out of bed. She came in sleepy and asked me how the election had gone.

"What could I say?" He shook his head. "I had to tell her the truth. Daddy lost. Mr. Kennedy won and he would be the next President of the United States. How do you handle these things?"

We shook hands. "I'll see you around," I said. Yes, he said, come and see us. He and Mr. Rebozo walked up to the first tee and Mr. Nixon took several practice swings, cutting the tips of the short grass. He looked up the long narrow lane between the date palms and the lake, 437 yards to the green.

Then he set a ball up, hitched his trousers, took one more look, and hit the ball high and straight 210 yards up the middle. "I don't think I need a mulligan," he said.

Mr. Rebozo got up in silence, teed a ball, and made a hit close to Nixon's. Jack Kofoed, who is a newspaperman's newspaperman and has been around longer than I, watched the two men pick up their tees and walk off. They didn't use a cart.

"Can Nixon play golf?" Jack said.

"I don't know," I said. "That belt is better than anything I can do."

" Can Rebozo play a good game?"

"I hope not," I said.

"Why?" Jack said as he swung his 7 wood back and forth in a lazy arc.

"Because," I said, "I'd hate to see Nixon lose this match by one stroke." . . .

Rheumatic Brain Fever And 'St. Vitus Dance'

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

We recently had a letter from a mother who wrote: "A little more than a year ago my 10-year-old daughter was hospitalized with a severe case of St. Vitus' dance." After complete bed rest for some months the girl was able to start school and "by the end of October, had made a complete recovery.

"What bothers me is how to explain the disease to other people. Some of my friends think of it as a form of epilepsy; others, as an emotional disease or a mental problem. Will you explain it? I suspect they think I'm covering up for a child who is mentally defective when, in fact, the girl is bright and alert."

This woman's experience is not unusual because the bizarre symptoms of chorea may linger for some time. Eventually, the youngster recovers completely but the jerky, clumsy movements may return from time to time, giving the impression of a mental or an emotional disturbance.

Chorea is rheumatic fever of the brain. Joint involvement and other manifestations of the disease seldom develop in conjunction with the nerve symptoms, although occasionally the heart is affected.

The onset of St. Vitus' disease is vague. Mother or teacher observes initially that the child is becoming nervous and irritable; she grimaces and spills her milk and food. Shortly thereafter, the child — usually a girl — develops jerky, purposeless, involuntary movements of face, arms, and legs. Effort and excitement increase the jerkiness, which is more noticeable also when the youngster tries to eat, dress, or pick up somethin,. The handwriting is illegible, speech is slurred, and stumbling is frequent. These children cry without provocation and are a pitiful sight because of their helplessness.

Chorea is best treated by keeping the child in bed with padded side boards to prevent injury when thrashing about. Sedatives quiet the youngster and some are helped with cortisone. Severe cases may require artificial fever treatments to bring the disease under control.

WHEN TO TAKE ASPIRIN

S. M. T. writes: Is it true that aspirin should not be taken on an empty stomach?

REPLY

No, but aspirin is more likely to upset an empty stomach.

REMEMBERS FACES

N. M. writes: I'm in my seventies and remember faces but not names. Is this caused by hardening of the arteries?

REPLY

Possibly, especially if in the past you were able to remember their names. Some persons in their forties are unable to recall names and its is unlikely that arteriosclerosis is responsible in that age group.

AUGUST BABIES

Mrs. A. G. writes: Please explain your statement that the best month to be born in is August.

REPLY

August newborns escape most of the summer ailments such as diarrhea. In addition, the early and more dangerous months of their life are spent during the fall and early winter when respiratory infections are less common than at other times.

TOMORROW: True blessings.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Bob Hope nominates as one of his most sure-fire stories—especially when he's entertaining the armed forces — the story of the man who had been cleaning up the elephant enclosure in a circus for 25 years. "This year is just too much," he complained to his wife. "They've just bought 20 more elephants. That makes over 50 for me to clean up after."

"Why don't you quit?" suggested the wife. "WHAT?" roared he, "and give up SHOW BUSINESS?"

In these days of bitterness over the segregation issue, this story from North Carolina is particularly welcome. A little white boy received permission from his mother to bring two classmates—one white, one colored—home for supper. When they arrived, the youngster pulled his mother aside and told her, "In case you're wondering, ma, the one with the checked shirt is the colored boy."

Saving Marshes For Wildlife

Does the great American population surge mean that one of the last great natural bounties of wildlife—the ducks and geese—must go the way of the buffalo and the passenger pigeon?

Waterfowl are in sharp decline but they still number in the millions because most of them are hatched and reared in Canada in areas until lately beyond the reach of agriculture.

But if the agricultural squeeze on them up there is becoming serious—and it is—they face a much greater threat in the United States during their migrations and on their wintering grounds mostly in the southern states. The National Audubon Society now urges a "crash" program to acquire and save good marshland for waterfowl and other marsh life while it is still available.

President Carl W. Buchheister of the Audubon Society says: "At the present rate of drainage, filling, and development for other purposes, most of the available marshes will have been destroyed long before 30 years elapse." That is the period he says it would take to purchase four million acres of marshland with the yearly revenue from the $3 federal duck stamp.

The Audubon Society advocates government purchase of the land now, at a cost of $150 million, with duck stamp revenue paying it off. Much of the best marshland for wildlife has already disappeared. The parallel with the need for more parkland is clear. Like upland for parks, the marshlands can be saved only by purchase without delay.

It is unfortunate, of course, that the land was not acquired 25 years ago, when the cost would have been much lower.

The Scared Canadians

Many nationalistic Canadians suffer from an inferiority complex which causes them to say and do unrealistic silly things. For instance, should war occur again, it will be necessary for the United States to defend Canada from conquest. A nation with a total population no greater than that of New York State and with an industrial establishment no greater than that of Czechoslovakia cannot hope to defend itself in a modern war. Nor can it remain neutral because it is the easiest access to the United States and therefore an enemy of the United States would wisely seek to knock out Canada first. The first battles in an attack upon the United States by Soviet Russia or Red China or both are likely to be over Canada. The logistics of war require that both countries act as one and geography has so made it that Canada has no alternative.

Some jittery Canadians, recognizing the peril of such a situation, believe that they can solve this problem by becoming either neutral or anti-American. Were Americans to withdraw their investments from Canada, because of Canadian opposition to the United States, it could be a sorry day for both countries. What elicits these remarks is an article by Hugh MacLennan in the Toronto "Star Weekly," which, I should say, is as unfriendly an utterance against this country as I have yet seen anywhere. Addressing the President of the United States, MacLennan says:

"It may not surprise you, Mr. President, but it will certainly surprise most of your countrymen, to be told that at the moment the United States is considered a greater threat to world peace than Russia. Such a statement, I suppose, would make me suspected of Communism in many quarters. Yet it is a plain fact. Ask almost any foreigner."

This is not taken out of context. It is a bold statement, literally untrue but believed apparently by its author, who says further:

"It is impossible for the rest of mankind to accept a policy which says, in effect, that the whole human past and future must perish merely because two giant countries with big bombs refused to speak to each other save in terms of violent abuse.

When the giant who is our friend (we admit he has been sorely provoked) says in effect: 'We will blow up ourselves and everyone near us rather than permit Russia to become the most powerful nation in the world,' we weak outsiders tremble."

Does MacLennan prefer that we say that as an extension of the Marxist-Leninist theory of world conquest, the United States capitulate to Soviet Russia and become a satellite like Poland or East Germany? For that clearly is what every ruler of Communist Russia, Lenin, Stalin and Khrushchev, has held to be necessary. I think that MacLennan does mean that because he believes that in the next war, all would be wiped out. He holds that he, quoting Lester Pearson, would "choose to live under Russia and then try to work to improve the situation."

This is precisely where we must differ. From the general character of MacLennan's article, it is possible to recognize that he is not familiar with the Marxist-Leninist mission of world conquest. The literature on the subject is voluminous and one needs only to study the subject. But the Canadian assumes that during the past 10 years, the Russian purpose has been modified, all evidence to the contrary notwithstanding. He says:

". . . the Moscow conspiracy is already beginning to founder on the familiar rocks of nationalism. Tito broke with Moscow years ago. China, which many Americans seem to regard as a mere extension of Soviet power, is already beginning to snarl at Russia . . ."

Unfortunately the record shows that Yugoslavia votes regularly with Soviet Russia in the United Nations. From this practical manifestation of Marxist unity, it is obvious that whereas there are differences between Khrushchev and Tito, Marxist unity is not diluted. As for the ideological quarrel between Khrushchev and Mao Tze-tung over the question as to whether war is essential to the universal success of Marxism, the record establishes that this is an inner schism between fundamentalist Marxists and revisionist Marxists but that it does not affect either country's relations to non-Marxist countries.

It is unfortunate that the Canadian people are not better informed about the current situation than this article would indicate.

The Unfortunate Relay

Nixon Declines To Approve Probes Of Alleged Frauds In Election

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—When Attorney General Bill Rogers went to see Vice President Nixon in Miami it was for more than Florida sunshine. He gave Nixon a plan to reverse the election of John F. Kennedy and make his close friend President of the United States.

Specifically Rogers asked Nixon whether he should impanel grand juries in the key electoral states of Illinois, Texas, New Jersey and Missouri to investigate alleged vote frauds.

On top of this, Rogers would bring an injunction against members of the electoral college to prevent them from casting their ballots for President until after the grand jury probes were completed. The Attorney General thought that he would be able to get a Federal Court to grant this injunction, but he wanted Nixon's OK before he proceeded.

The Vice President replied that the decision was not up to him, he was not Attorney General of the United States.

But he cautioned Rogers regarding the effect on American prestige if President-elect Kennedy were barred from office because of election frauds. If the United States reversed its election by an investigation which advertised to the world that our elections were dishonest, Nixon warned, it would really send U. S. prestige to a new low.

In the end, however, the Vice President left it up to Attorney General Rogers as to whether he should proceed with the grand jury probes.

Election-Went-Round

A "School Bank"

New York bankers aren't going to like it, but Congressman Wright Patman of Texarkana, Texas, has come up with the idea of a Federal "bank" for schools to expedite the educational race with Russia.

The bank not only would handle the government's proposed expansion of loans to college students, but purchase state and local bonds needed to finance public school construction and teacher salary increases.

Patman's idea will be scored as "socialistic" on Wall Street, but the Texas Congressman argues it is no more socialistic than the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., which now underwrites bank deposits, or the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, established by the Hoover Administration for the purpose, among other things, of purchasing state and local bonds in the same way Patman wants the government to purchase school bonds.

U.S. Catholic Bishops State Significant Views

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — When the Catholic Bishops of the United States meet in Washington every year, they usually have something to say which is of interest not only to their co-religionists but to others as well. The meeting which has just been concluded has resulted in a statement of significance to all Americans and to peoples everywhere.

For the Bishops have placed an emphasis on "the personal responsibility of free men" which, while not spelled out in detail, has an implicit meaning of transcendent importance today.

The Bishops, moreover, have put their finger on a weakness in many countries, including the United States, where there is a tendency to rely on organizations and economic pressure groups to obtain special favors and benefits.

There is not a word of politics in the Bishops' statement, but the text of it, when read carefully, has an indirect bearing on many subjects in the realm of education, labor and management, as well as of government.

"If our future is to be worthy of our past," says the statement, "if the fruit of America's promise is not to wither before it has reached full maturity, our present pre-eminent need is to reaffirm the sense of individual obligation, to place clearly before ourselves the foundation on which personal responsibility rests, to determine the causes of its decay and to seek the means by which it can be revived."

While the Bishops speak of the decline of "personal responsibility" in the family and the failure of parents to fulfill their responsibilities in the home, stress is placed on the "evidence of decline in the sense of responsibility within our industrial organization and in our general economic life." The declaration says:

"At a time when so much depends upon the soundness of our economy and upon our ability to produce to meet the needs of a rapidly developing world, we have been faced by a frequent lack of truly responsible leadership, both on the part of management and of labor. Among the evident instances of the breakdown of personal responsibility most deplorable has been the widespread cynical reaction to the recent revelation of dishonesty, waste and malfeasance in industrial relations."

Of significance, too, is what the Bishops say about the pressures that "are growing for a constantly greater reliance on the collectivity rather than on the individual." Their statement continues:

"An inordinate demand for benefits, most easily secured by the pressures of organization, has led an ever-growing number of our people to relinquish their rights and to abdicate their responsibilities. This concession creates a widening spiral of increasing demands and pressures with a further infringement on personal freedom and responsibility. . . .

"Intensive socialization can achieve mass benefits, but man and morality can be seriously hurt in the process."

A great deal may be read into that particular paragraph in the light of recent pressures to have the government furnish financial aid "from the cradle to the grave" not only in this country but in Great Britain and in other countries of the world.

Pertinent, too, is the application by the Bishops of the phrase "personal responsibility" to the conduct of international affairs. The statement says:

'This tendency to delegate excessive responsibility to an organization is discernible also in the realm of international affairs. Some manifest no sense of personal responsibility in the affairs of the international community. On the other hand, many citizens seem to feel that our mere adherence to the United Nations absolves us from further responsibility in the international order and that decisions made by the United Nations, regardless of their objective value, are always to be regarded as morally right."

The Bishops concede the "undoubted value of a policy of supporting the United Nations," but insist nevertheless that citizens of the United States and of all countries "have a responsibility to judge and to evaluate the United Nations' deliberations and decisions according to objective norms of morality universally binding."

Perhaps the most interesting paragraph of all is what the Bishops have to say about the tendency to regard everything that is happening today as different from the past and hence as justifying courses of expediency. The Bishops speak on that point as follows:

"Through a faulty concept of morality modern man has come to imagine that sudden and drastic changes in situations change principles, that principles no longer control situations, but rather that situations shape principles. Inevitably this type of 'situational ethics' denies all unchanging principles and makes futile all moral judgments on which the sense of responsibility rests."

Really what the Bishops say about principles not being outmoded by current developments might apply equally well to that school of thought which feels that the Constitution of the United States can be rewritten by the judges of the Supreme Court at any time, just because conditions have changed.

In their concluding words, the Bishops point out that "an effective response to a call for personal responsibility need not wait for a mass movement." The message ends with this comment:

'Our appeal for action is made directly to our Catholic fellow citizens, but it reaches out also to all Americans who face the same problems as ourselves.

"Before it is too late, we must revive in our midst and present to the world the ideals that have been the real source of national greatness."

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

TACTICS OF FDR?—President-elect John F. Kennedy, who sought to compare his philosophy of government with that of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, has Washington politicos wondering about the same thing, now that he has won the election.

As Kennedy began to campaign for the Presidency four years ago, most of the politically wise here are convinced that his campaign for re-election in 1964 already has begun.

In some areas, Kennedy's liberal program can make progress under the present makeup of Congress. In other areas, notably civil rights, this is a patent impossibility.

The question in Washington is how far Kennedy will push in order to win the votes he needs in Congress to make good on his platform and campaign promises.

It is recalled that the late FDR found it necessary to wield all the presidential power at his command to push some of his reforms through Congress—and even then, he didn't always succeed.

Many political leaders here are convinced that Kennedy will have to resort to the same coercive measures as Roosevelt did if he is to go before the public for re-election four years hence. And no one doubts that Kennedy will make the run for a second term in the White House.

Roosevelt used threats, patronage, promises—anything—to swing key Congressional votes to his side. When all else failed, he even tried to defeat some members of his own political party at the polls. This was the famed Roosevelt "purge," that failed, but it succeeded in impressing Democratic Senators and Representatives with the lengths to which he would go to win his point.

Kennedy needs a record of accomplishment to win a second term. No one here doubts that he'll do his utmost to assure that record.

I was sitting in my room with Pat, just thinking, at 6 a. m. when Julie got out of bed. She came in sleepy and asked me how the election had gone.

"What could I say?" He shook his head. "I had to tell her the truth. Daddy lost. Mr. Kennedy won and he would be the next President of the United States. How do you handle these things?"

We shook hands. "I'll see you around," I said. Yes, he said, come and see us. He and Mr. Rebozo walked up to the first tee and Mr. Nixon took several practice swings, cutting the tips of the short grass. He looked up the long narrow lane between the date palms and the lake, 437 yards to the green.

Then he set a ball up, hitched his trousers, took one more look, and hit the ball high and straight 210 yards up the middle. "I don't think I need a mulligan," he said.

Mr. Rebozo got up in silence, teed a ball, and made a hit close to Nixon's. Jack Kofoed, who is a newspaperman's newspaperman and has been around longer than I, watched the two men pick up their tees and walk off. They didn't use a cart.

"Can Nixon play golf?" Jack said.

"I don't know," I said. "That belt is better than anything I can do."

" Can Rebozo play a good game?"

"I hope not," I said.

"Why?" Jack said as he swung his 7 wood back and forth in a lazy arc.

"Because," I said, "I'd hate to see Nixon lose this match by one stroke." . . .

Rheumatic Brain Fever And 'St. Vitus Dance'

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

We recently had a letter from a mother who wrote: "A little more than a year ago my 10-year-old daughter was hospitalized with a severe case of St. Vitus' dance." After complete bed rest for some months the girl was able to start school and "by the end of October, had made a complete recovery.

"What bothers me is how to explain the disease to other people. Some of my friends think of it as a form of epilepsy; others, as an emotional disease or a mental problem. Will you explain it? I suspect they think I'm covering up for a child who is mentally defective when, in fact, the girl is bright and alert."

This woman's experience is not unusual because the bizarre symptoms of chorea may linger for some time. Eventually, the youngster recovers completely but the jerky, clumsy movements may return from time to time, giving the impression of a mental or an emotional disturbance.

Chorea is rheumatic fever of the brain. Joint involvement and other manifestations of the disease seldom develop in conjunction with the nerve symptoms, although occasionally the heart is affected.

The onset of St. Vitus' disease is vague. Mother or teacher observes initially that the child is becoming nervous and irritable; she grimaces and spills her milk and food. Shortly thereafter, the child — usually a girl — develops jerky, purposeless, involuntary movements of face, arms, and legs. Effort and excitement increase the jerkiness, which is more noticeable also when the youngster tries to eat, dress, or pick up somethin,. The handwriting is illegible, speech is slurred, and stumbling is frequent. These children cry without provocation and are a pitiful sight because of their helplessness.

Chorea is best treated by keeping the child in bed with padded side boards to prevent injury when thrashing about. Sedatives quiet the youngster and some are helped with cortisone. Severe cases may require artificial fever treatments to bring the disease under control.

WHEN TO TAKE ASPIRIN

S. M. T. writes: Is it true that aspirin should not be taken on an empty stomach?

REPLY

No, but aspirin is more likely to upset an empty stomach.

REMEMBERS FACES

N. M. writes: I'm in my seventies and remember faces but not names. Is this caused by hardening of the arteries?

REPLY

Possibly, especially if in the past you were able to remember their names. Some persons in their forties are unable to recall names and its is unlikely that arteriosclerosis is responsible in that age group.

AUGUST BABIES

Mrs. A. G. writes: Please explain your statement that the best month to be born in is August.

REPLY

August newborns escape most of the summer ailments such as diarrhea. In addition, the early and more dangerous months of their life are spent during the fall and early winter when respiratory infections are less common than at other times.

TOMORROW: True blessings.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Bob Hope nominates as one of his most sure-fire stories—especially when he's entertaining the armed forces — the story of the man who had been cleaning up the elephant enclosure in a circus for 25 years. "This year is just too much," he complained to his wife. "They've just bought 20 more elephants. That makes over 50 for me to clean up after."

"Why don't you quit?" suggested the wife. "WHAT?" roared he, "and give up SHOW BUSINESS?"

In these days of bitterness over the segregation issue, this story from North Carolina is particularly welcome. A little white boy received permission from his mother to bring two classmates—one white, one colored—home for supper. When they arrived, the youngster pulled his mother aside and told her, "In case you're wondering, ma, the one with the checked shirt is the colored boy."

Thinking machines are getting smarter all the time, a meeting of the American Rocket Society in Dayton, Ohio, is told. However, Man still remains smarter—so far no thinking machine has been able to think up how to build another thinking machine.

Invention of the bootlace brought its designer a total of $2,500,000 — Factographs. Now, there was a rich man who wound up with, instead of starting on, a shoestring!

Potomac Edison Company Completes Construction Work On New $300,000 Carlos Junction Substation

FROSTBURG — One of the largest construction projects undertaken in many years by the Potomac Edison Company in the Frostburg area was completed recently when the new Carlos Junction substation was placed in service.

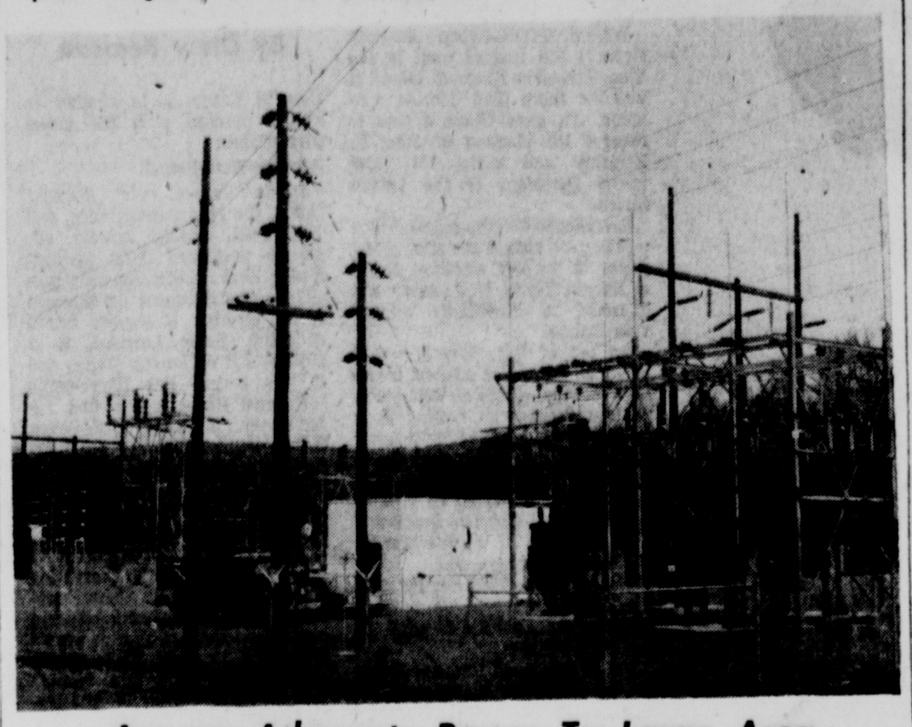

Built at a cost of well over $300,000, the new substation will bolster the supply of adequate electric power to the western end of the Potomac Edison System to meet the growing needs of all types of customers, residential, commercial, farm and industrial.

Located at National, southwest of Frostburg, the Carlos Junction substation is the first direct source of supply for electric power to be located in the utility company's Frostburg District. It is being fed from the 132,000 volt line from Albright, W. Va. to Ridgeley and has a transformer rated at 25,000 kva.

The station is designed so that it can also feed power through the Cresaptown substation and to the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory plant at Pinto.

Construction work on the new power facility here was a combined effort of the line departments of both the Frostburg and Cumberland districts, and the Cumberland division of PE's substation and communications department.

E. L. Ewald, district manager of PE here, said the location of the new substation here "is part of our company's long range construction program which has as its sole purpose insuring adequate electric power, not only to meet the needs of today, but to anticipate the customer's requirements of the future."

Assures Adequate Power To Large Area

This newest $300,000 electric substation located southwest of Frostburg has been recently completed and placed into service by the Potomac Edison Company, to assure adequate electric power for the present and anticipated needs of a growing area in this section of Western Maryland.

Antrim Show Opens Monday

FROSTBURG — Earl F. Brain, principal of Beall Elementary and Junior High School, announces that an antrim show, "Victor Onstad" will be presented in the school auditorium Monday at 2:25 p. m.

With the aid of pastel chalks and a huge easel, Onstad transforms the art of sketching into an entertaining program. This artist, of Norwegian ancestry, makes use not only of his sense of humor but perception of character, as well, to provide one sketch after another of scenic beauty, comic cartoons and portrait sketches.

To further dramatize his skills, Onstad makes use of background music, appropriate poetry and narrative comments.

Area Revival Continues With Record Attendance

FROSTBURG—The Revival Crusade at Trinity Assembly of God Church is continuing every night this week at 7:30 p. m. due to the continuous great attendance and outstanding results according to Evangelist Richard Owens of Wilmington, Del.

The services on Sunday again saw the church auditorium filled to capacity with people attending from the Greater Midlothian and Cumberland areas. There were many who traveled as far as 30 miles to be in the crusade. Many churches and denominations have been represented and as persons attend for the first time, it has been duplicated time and again, they return and bring others with them.

Rev. Owens has held crusades in many parts of the United States and Canada and has invitations to speak abroad in the future. He has conducted crusades in churches, tents, public auditoriums and camp meetings. This coming summer he will be the evangelist for Brandywine Summit Methodist Camp, the oldest Camp in the east.

Mrs. Ruth Owens, wife of Rev. Owens is organist for the crusade and the church orchestra is also providing special music.

A protracted prayer meeting, attended by over 100 people continued for over seven hours with many in the church still praying at 4 a. m. Many have been saying that this is the most outstanding crusade they have ever been in. Spiritual complacency and lethergy is giving way to a surge of revival power and blessing, observers claim.

Services will be held each evening. The church bus provides free transportation to all desiring it. For further information, call Rev. James Tate at OV 9-9701.

Water Rate Revision Is Proposed

FROSTBURG—Edward J. Ryan, city attorney, was instructed by City Council Monday to draw up an amendment to city ordinance 351-B establishing a maximum rate that the city can charge out-of-town users of city water.

Purpose of the ordinance is to give city officials the right to raise water rates to out-of-town companies as it is deemed necessary without having to have another city ordinance drawn up.

Rates may go to $1.50 per thousand gallons before having to have the ordinance changed. At present, residents pay $.50 per thousand gallons. This ordinance will not affect them.

Out-of-town users or companies now pay $.60 per thousand gallons to the city. This ordinance gives the city permission to change this rate only.

A representative of the Maryland Municipal League's insurance company was present and explained proposed changes in the City Employes' Health and Hospital Insurance program.

He quoted premiums for increased benefits to the employe under the insurance plan. The new proposal was adopted and will result in a slight increase to the employes' deductions, but will give them added benefits.

Two residents of Consol asked Council for permission to connect to city water mains located in their vicinity.

Campers To Seek 8th Trojans Seek Games
KHS Stymied By "13" Explorers In League

By C. V. BURNS

ALLEGANY High School will be gunning for its eighth championship while Fort Hill will be shooting for its sixth title when the local football teams clash in the Cumberland Valley Athletic League finale on Thansgiving Day.

The Campers entered the old CVAL in 1929 and played for 15 years before that circuit folded after the 1943 season. They shared the championship in 1934 and 1936 and won it outright in 1938, 1939, 1941 and 1942. Bert Harbert coached the 1934 team and Herman Ball tutored the five other winners.

Since the league was revived in 1956, Allegany finished on top once in the past four years and that was in 1959 when Ed Schwarz's team shared the honors with Westminster's Owls.

Fort Hill was in the old league seven years (1937-1943). John Long's 1940 eleven bagged the title and Mel Henry's 1943 team tied Hagerstown for the crown.

Since the 1956 revival, the Sentinels tied Hagerstown the first year, went all the way in 1957 with a 7-0 record and tied North Hagerstown for the championship in 1958. These Fort Hill teams were coached by Bill Hahn.

Fort Hill is in the league for the 12th year.

Both schools go into the CVAL finale with 5-0 records.

BOB GAFFNEY and Tommy Miller, who have accounted for 170 of the 303 points scored by Allegany this season have amassed 340 points between them in three years.

Gaffney has tallied 30, 84 and 100 for a total of 214 while Miller has registered 12, 44 and 70 for 126.

Bob Shewbridge, current leader at Fort Hill, has racked up 103 points in two seasons for the Sentinels and Delbert Helmick has 78 to his credit.

IN THE TEN games played by Keyser High School this season, the figure "13" popped up six times and the Golden Tornado finished on the short end in five of the contests.

KHS lost to Charles Town, 13-0, Ridgeley 20-13, Allegany 31-13, Beall 20-13 and Fort Hill 45-13.

Last year Keyser owned a 9-0 record going into the final game and lost to Charles Town, 19-13, and in 1957 the Clarkmen were 10-0 when they dropped a 14-13 decision to Huntington, Vinson, at Morgantown, in the Class A state title battle which saw the end of Keyser's 26-game winning streak.

Coach Fred "Tack" Clark, even though his team beat LaSalle, 19-13 this season, says he's beginning to believe "13" is an unlucky number.

FOOTBALL FANS can get a pretty good idea how powerful Weirton (W. Va.) High School is this year by the fact that the West Virginia Class AAA champions clobbered Johnstown, Pa., High School by the score of 48-13.

The Johnstown Trojans have been a power in Western Pennsylvania football for many years and the loss to Weirton was only the second in 29 games.

Johnstown, incidentally, would like to fill three open dates in 1961. They are Sept. 8 or 9, Sept. 15 or 16 and Nov. 10 or 11. Here's a chance to get a "name" team on your schedule.

The Johnnies last appeared on a local team's schedule in 1929 when they played Allegany a scoreless tie after winning four in a row from the Cumberland school.

ALTOONA CATHOLIC High School, defeated 39-0 in its opener, dropped nine in a row before winning its final game from Bellwood-Antis, 33-19. Bellwood, incidentally, wound up the season with an 0-10 record.

THE RUSH for U. S. gold seems to be from Panama. Braulio Baeza, pronounced Brow-oo-leo Bahay-sa, is the latest Panamanian jockey to grab the spotlight on U. S. tracks. He was preceded by Jose Ulloa and Manuel Ycaza.

WHEN LaSalle High School became a member of the Potomac Valley Conference Monday night it marked the Explorers return to league competition in basketball for the first time in 25 years.

LaSalle was a member of the W.M.I. Basketball League from 1921 through 1935 and won the championship in 1927 with a 14-0 record. Raymond "Ike" Law was the coach that year.

Cletus "Vic" May, Jack Stakem and John Mullaney, LaSalle players, won the W.M.I. individual scoring championship in successive years—1927, 1928 and 1929.

THE DEATH of Tommy Gibbons last week brought back memories of 1923 when the clever St. Paul, Minn., light-heavyweight, although outweighed 15 pounds, went the limit of 15 rounds with Jack Dempsey at Shelby, Montana, in the battle for the world heavyweight title.

When Gene Tunney whipped Harry Greb and stopped Gibbons in 12 rounds in 1925 that was the "tipoff" on the next heavyweight champion of the world. Tunney whipped Dempsey in 1926 and 1927.

Baltimore U. Wins Mason-Dixon Title

LYNCHBURG, Va. (UPI) —The University of Baltimore capitalized on two goal-tending miscues Tuesday to down Lynchburg College 2-1 for the Mason-Dixon conference soccer championship.

Baltimore scored early in the first period of the playoff match when Gordon McBee kicked the ball into the net after Lynchburg goalie Fred Pitman dropped it.

The Hornets tied it later in the period on a shot by Helmut Werner, but Baltimore clinched the game in the second period when Pitman dropped the ball again allowing Steve Katcheves to slam it home.

Baltimore, the northern division conference champ, wound up the season with a record of 9-1-1 while Lynchburg, the southern division champ, was 14-2-1.

Hunters May Buy Turkeys After All

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Most West Virginia hunters will wind up buying their Thanksgiving Day turkey after all.

The State Conservation Commission said Tuesday hunters apparently have found the elusive wild turkey rather scarce so far this season, since only 598 kills were reported as of Nov. 16.

However, there's still a good chance for hunters to redeem themselves and provide his own turkey for a Christmas dinner. The wild turkey season continues until Jan. 7.

Baylor Scores 41 In Laker Victory

NEW YORK (UPI)—Elgin Baylor, continuing his hot shooting, scored 41 points Tuesday night pacing the Los Angeles Lakers to a 133-118 victory over the Cincinnati Royals.

The triumph was the fourth in a row for the Lakers and during that streak Baylor has averaged 49.8 points per game, including a record shattering 71 points against the Knicks in his last Garden appearance.

Football fans have been spotted in kilts. Those not falling for the kilted look, turn out in skirts, sweaters and suits in autumn lilac, bluish reds, wines and plums. The thigh-length kilts are worn with knee-high socks or colorful stretch tights.

Pitt, Colgate Meet In Cage Tournament

PITTSBURGH (UPI) —Defending champion Pitt Faces Colgate and Duquesne plays Tennessee in the first round of the 10th annual Steel Bowl basketball tournament here Dec. 16-17.

The Panthers upset St. John's last year in the opening round and then whipped Duquesne, 75-44, to win the tourney trophy.

Contacts Collegians

NEW YORK (UPI) — Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the National Football League Wednesday sent wires to about 50 leading college players, urging them to wait for the NFL draft on Dec. 27 before signing any professional contracts.

Middies Face Cadets In Big One Saturday

Oregon-Penn State Play In Liberty Bowl On Dec. 17

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The No. 1 team in major college football is Navy. Not in the polls, but in the bowls.

All sights are set on the Middies —including the eyes of Texas— and all that stands between Navy and its fourth post season appearance is a victory over Army in the service classic at Philadelphia Saturday.

That would give Navy a 9-1 record and group the Midshipmen with Washington, Arkansas, Baylor, Missouri, Penn State and Oregon as the big time teams headed for bowl play.

Oregon To Play Lions

Oregon (7-2-1) Tuesday accepted a bid to face Penn State (6-3) at Philadelphia Dec. 17 in the Liberty Bowl — the only major bowl that has two teams signed.

Each of the other section committees still are in search of at least one entry in a bowl picture that breaks down like this:

The Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., has Washington (9-1) safely picked and Navy would be a natural opponent. The Middies were the only club to beat the Huskies (13-14). They also played a 14-14 tie in the 1924 Rose Bowl. Minnesota (8-1) and Iowa (8-1), co-champions of the Big Ten, also are in the running. By picking Minnesota, the grandday of the bowls might be able to set up a new pact with the Big Ten.

The Cotton Bowl at Dallas has Arkansas (8-2) as host team and is angling for a second appearance by Navy, which defeated Rice 20-7 there in 1958.

The Orange Bowl at Miami has Missouri (9-1) signed up and lists Navy, Florida (7-2) and Alabama (7-1-1), in that order as a foe for the Tigers.

The Sugar Bowl in New Orleans, with two berths to fill, has one reserved for Mississippi (8-0-1). Rice (7-2) is the top pick for the other spot.

Baylor Is Picked

The Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., picked up Baylor (7-2) and already has invited Florida to be the host team.

With Big Ten teams restricted to the Rose Bowl, Kansas (7-2-1) and Auburn (8-1) on probation and Syracuse rejecting all bids, Alabama, Texas, Tennessee and Duke are in the runnnng.

The Tangerine Bowl Tuesday received an acceptance by The Citadel (7-2-1) to oppose Tennessee Tech (7-2) at Orland, Fla. The Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston and the Gotham Bowl at New York still are without a team.

Surgical Research Grant Is Renewed

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — The National Institutes of Health has renewed for another three years a grant to West Virginia University for surgical research, it was announced Tuesday.

The grant is valued at $28,685 a year for a total of more than $86,000 during the three-year period.

The primary objective of the research project headed by Dr. Bernard Zimmerman, chairman and professor of medicine at WVU, is to learn more about the effects of major surgery on body chemistry.

MYF Arranges Yule Party

BARTON — The Youth Fellowship of the First Methodist Church met a recent eveping in the church social room with Mrs. Peggy Mowbray, in charge.

Mrs. Mowbray and Mrs. Clarence Penman are leaders in the MYF. The next meeting will be held November 27 at 6:30 p. m. and following the meeting a party will be held. At this meeting, plans will be made for a Christmas party.

WVU Not Afraid

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — West Virginia University apparently has no inclination to downgrade Mountaineer football schedules in spite of three consecutive losing seasons.

Coaches Named

ERIE, Pa. (UPI) — Ara Parseghian, head coach at Northwestern and Jim Miller, chief mentor at Detroit University, will coach the college seniors participating in Erie's Gem Bowl on Thanksgiving Day.

ALLEGANY High School will be gunning for its eighth championship while Fort Hill will be shooting for its sixth title when the local football teams clash in the Cumberland Valley Athletic League finale on Thansgiving Day.

The Campers entered the old CVAL in 1929 and played for 15 years before that circuit folded after the 1943 season. They shared the championship in 1934 and 1936 and won it outright in 1938, 1939, 1941 and 1942. Bert Harbert coached the 1934 team and Herman Ball tutored the five other winners.

Since the league was revived in 1956, Allegany finished on top once in the past four years and that was in 1959 when Ed Schwarz's team shared the honors with Westminster's Owls.

Fort Hill was in the old league seven years (1937-1943). John Long's 1940 eleven bagged the title and Mel Henry's 1943 team tied Hagerstown for the crown.

Since the 1956 revival, the Sentinels tied Hagerstown the first year, went all the way in 1957 with a 7-0 record and tied North Hagerstown for the championship in 1958. These Fort Hill teams were coached by Bill Hahn.

Fort Hill is in the league for the 12th year.

Both schools go into the CVAL finale with 5-0 records.

BOB GAFFNEY and Tommy Miller, who have accounted for 170 of the 303 points scored by Allegany this season have amassed 340 points between them in three years.

Gaffney has tallied 30, 84 and 100 for a total of 214 while Miller has registered 12, 44 and 70 for 126.

Bob Shewbridge, current leader at Fort Hill, has racked up 103 points in two seasons for the Sentinels and Delbert Helmick has 78 to his credit.

IN THE TEN games played by Keyser High School this season, the figure "13" popped up six times and the Golden Tornado finished on the short end in five of the contests.

KHS lost to Charles Town, 13-0, Ridgeley 20-13, Allegany 31-13, Beall 20-13 and Fort Hill 45-13.

Last year Keyser owned a 9-0 record going into the final game and lost to Charles Town, 19-13, and in 1957 the Clarkmen were 10-0 when they dropped a 14-13 decision to Huntington, Vinson, at Morgantown, in the Class A state title battle which saw the end of Keyser's 26-game winning streak.

Coach Fred "Tack" Clark, even though his team beat LaSalle, 19-13 this season, says he's beginning to believe "13" is an unlucky number.

FOOTBALL FANS can get a pretty good idea how powerful Weirton (W. Va.) High School is this year by the fact that the West Virginia Class AAA champions clobbered Johnstown, Pa., High School by the score of 48-13.

The Johnstown Trojans have been a power in Western Pennsylvania football for many years and the loss to Weirton was only the second in 29 games.

Johnstown, incidentally, would like to fill three open dates in 1961. They are Sept. 8 or 9, Sept. 15 or 16 and Nov. 10 or 11. Here's a chance to get a "name" team on your schedule.

The Johnnies last appeared on a local team's schedule in 1929 when they played Allegany a scoreless tie after winning four in a row from the Cumberland school.

ALTOONA CATHOLIC High School, defeated 39-0 in its opener, dropped nine in a row before winning its final game from Bellwood-Antis, 33-19. Bellwood, incidentally, wound up the season with an 0-10 record.

THE RUSH for U. S. gold seems to be from Panama. Braulio Baeza, pronounced Brow-oo-leo Bahay-sa, is the latest Panamanian jockey to grab the spotlight on U. S. tracks. He was preceded by Jose Ulloa and Manuel Ycaza.

WHEN LaSalle High School became a member of the Potomac Valley Conference Monday night it marked the Explorers return to league competition in basketball for the first time in 25 years.

LaSalle was a member of the W.M.I. Basketball League from 1921 through 1935 and won the championship in 1927 with a 14-0 record. Raymond "Ike" Law was the coach that year.

Cletus "Vic" May, Jack Stakem and John Mullaney, LaSalle players, won the W.M.I. individual scoring championship in successive years—1927, 1928 and 1929.

THE DEATH of Tommy Gibbons last week brought back memories of 1923 when the clever St. Paul, Minn., light-heavyweight, although outweighed 15 pounds, went the limit of 15 rounds with Jack Dempsey at Shelby, Montana, in the battle for the world heavyweight title.

When Gene Tunney whipped Harry Greb and stopped Gibbons in 12 rounds in 1925 that was the "tipoff" on the next heavyweight champion of the world. Tunney whipped Dempsey in 1926 and 1927.

Baylor Scores 41 In Laker Victory

NEW YORK (UPI)—Elgin Baylor, continuing his hot shooting, scored 41 points Tuesday night pacing the Los Angeles Lakers to a 133-118 victory over the Cincinnati Royals.

The triumph was the fourth in a row for the Lakers and during that streak Baylor has averaged 49.8 points per game, including a record shattering 71 points against the Knicks in his last Garden appearance.

Football fans have been spotted in kilts. Those not falling for the kilted look, turn out in skirts, sweaters and suits in autumn lilac, bluish reds, wines and plums. The thigh-length kilts are worn with knee-high socks or colorful stretch tights.

Baltimore U. Wins Mason-Dixon Title

LYNCHBURG, Va. (UPI) —The University of Baltimore capitalized on two goal-tending miscues Tuesday to down Lynchburg College 2-1 for the Mason-Dixon conference soccer championship.

Baltimore scored early in the first period of the playoff match when Gordon McBee kicked the ball into the net after Lynchburg goalie Fred Pitman dropped it.

The Hornets tied it later in the period on a shot by Helmut Werner, but Baltimore clinched the game in the second period when Pitman dropped the ball again allowing Steve Katcheves to slam it home.

Baltimore, the northern division conference champ, wound up the season with a record of 9-1-1 while Lynchburg, the southern division champ, was 14-2-1.

Hunters May Buy Turkeys After All

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Most West Virginia hunters will wind up buying their Thanksgiving Day turkey after all.

The State Conservation Commission said Tuesday hunters apparently have found the elusive wild turkey rather scarce so far this season, since only 598 kills were reported as of Nov. 16.

However, there's still a good chance for hunters to redeem themselves and provide his own turkey for a Christmas dinner. The wild turkey season continues until Jan. 7.

Middies Face Cadets In Big One Saturday

Oregon-Penn State Play In Liberty Bowl On Dec. 17

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The No. 1 team in major college football is Navy. Not in the polls, but in the bowls.

All sights are set on the Middies—including the eyes of Texas—and all that stands between Navy and its fourth post season appearance is a victory over Army in in the service classic at Philadelphia Saturday.

That would give Navy a 9-1 record and group the Midshipmen with Washington, Arkansas, Baylor, Missouri, Penn State and Oregon as the big time teams headed for bowl play.

Oregon To Play Lions

Oregon (7-2-1) Tuesday accepted a bid to face Penn State (6-3) at Philadelphia Dec. 17 in the Liberty Bowl — the only major bowl that has two teams signed.

Each of the other section committees still are in search of at least one entry in a bowl picture that breaks down like this:

The Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., has Washington (9-1) safely picked and Navy would be a natural opponent. The Middies were the only club to beat the Huskies (15-14). They also played a 14-14 tie in the 1924 Rose Bowl. Minnesota (8-1) and Iowa (8-1), co-champions of the Big Ten, also are in the running. By picking Minnesota, the grandday of the bowls might be able to set up a new pact with the Big Ten.

The Cotton Bowl at Dallas has Arkansas (8-2) as host team and is angling for a second appearance by Navy, which defeated Rice 20-7 there in 1958.

The Orange Bowl at Miami has Missouri (9-1) signed up and lists Navy, Florida (7-2) and Alabama (7-1-1), in that order as a foe for the Tigers.

The Sugar Bowl in New Orleans, with two berths to fill, has one reserved for Mississippi (8-0-1). Rice (7-2) is the top pick for the other spot.

Baylor Is Picked

The Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., picked up Baylor (7-2) and already has invited Florida to be the host team.

With Big Ten teams restricted to the Rose Bowl, Kansas (7-2-1) and Auburn (8-1) on probation and Syracuse rejecting all bids, Alabama, Texas, Tennessee and Duke are in the runnnng.

The Tangerine Bowl Tuesday received an acceptance by The Citadel (7-2-1) to oppose Tennessee Tech (7-2) at Orland, Fla. The Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston and the Gotham Bowl at New York still are without a team.

Surgical Research Grant Is Renewed

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — The National Institutes of Health has renewed for another three years a grant to West Virginia University for surgical research, it was announced Tuesday.

The grant is valued at $28,685 a year for a total of more than $86,000 during the three-year period.

The primary objective of the research project headed by Dr. Bernard Zimmerman, chairman and professor of medicine at WVU, is to learn more about the effects of major surgery on body chemistry.

MYF Arranges Yule Party

BARTON — The Youth Fellowship of the First Methodist Church met a recent eveping in the church social room with Mrs. Peggy Mowbray, in charge.

Mrs. Mowbray and Mrs. Clarence Penman are leaders in the MYF. The next meeting will be held November 27 at 6:30 p. m. and following the meeting a party will be held. At this meeting, plans will be made for a Christmas party.

WVU Not Afraid

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — West Virginia University apparently has no inclination to downgrade Mountaineer football schedules in spite of three consecutive losing seasons.

Coaches Named

American League Proposes Inter-League Games In 1961

Proposal Calls For Nine-Team Leagues For Next Season

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American League, in a compromise proposition, announced Tuesday night it would defer entering Los Angeles until 1962, provided that the National League would agree to 9-club inter-league competition in 1961.

American League officials thus tossed the gauntlet to the National League, which had laid down a set of conditions under which the A.L. could enter Los Angeles for the 1961 season.

The National League was given until Dec. 5 to reach a decision whether it would agree to 9-club inter-league play next season.

Lasts For Year

If it does, Joe McKenney, the American League's director of publicity, stressed that the inter-league competition would be for one year only and that one of the new N.L. franchises — either Houston or New York — would have to be activated next year rather than in 1962, as had originally been planned.

American League officials then went into a meeting with President Joe Cronin and following 3½ hours of discussion, McKenney came out with the following resolution, as passed by A.L. owners:

Reforms Expansion Policy

"Resolved that the American League reforms its expansion policy to have a new club in Los Angeles in 1961.

"In the event the N.L. will agree to 9-club inter-league play in 1961 by not later than Dec. 5, 1960, then the American League will defer the granting of a new member in Los Angeles until 1962.

Shortly after the resolution was made, the American League summoned the three Los Angeles franchise-seekers into the room where they had met most of the day.

The three men were: Charles Finley, a 42-year-old Chicago insurance executive; Kenyon Brown, former Detroit Tigers stockholder from Los Angeles, and Gene Klein, vice chairman of the National Theater and Television, Inc.

Del Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees, said he and partner Dan Topping "came up with the inter-league idea today and that it received the unanimous approval of the American League and a go-ahead from Commissioner Ford Frick. He said Walter O'Malley, president of the Dodgers, was "surprised but thought it was a good idea" and that NL President Warren Giles said "he'd do everything to sell the National League on it."

Means 166 Game Card

Webb said, if the plan goes through, it will mean a 166-game schedule with each club playing its league rivals 14 times (a total of 112 games) and six games against each of the nine inter-league rivals (another 54 games).

"We think this is the orderly way," said Webb, who then was asked what would happen if the National League did not go for the idea.

"We'll cross that bridge when we come to it," he said.

O'Malley laid down the conditions under which he would consent to allow an American League club in Los Angeles earlier in the day.

Johnstown Council Defers Action On Shift Of Franchise

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (UPI) —City Council Tuesday postponed until Wednesday final action on a proposal to move a Class A, Eastern League baseball franchise from Allentown, Pa., to Johnstown.

Mayor George R. Walter said approval of the transfer is "little more than a formality." He said a decision was not reached Tuesday because of a legal technicality.

Three of the four city councilmen, along with Walter favor the shift of the Eastern League club.

Joe Buzas, owner of the team, and general manager Bob Erie met with city officials Monday and agreed on all but one point. This was the amount the club would pay each year for the right to use Point Stadium. Buzas offered $3,000 a year, but Walter said it would take $2,600 annually for lighting.

Buzas, citing poor attendance as the reason for wanting to shift the franchise, guaranteed a three-year operation in Johnstown.

Ralston, McKinley Cop Singles Tests

BRISBANE, Australia, Wednesday (UPI)—The United States Davis Cup team sent a pair of frisky teen-agers out to wrap up its inter-zone series against the Philippines today in the shortest possible order.

Dennis Ralston, 18, of Bakersfield, Calif., and Chuck McKinley, 19, of St. Louis, Mo., were selected to play Johnny Jose and Eddie Dungo of the underdog Filipino squad in a doubles match starting at 2 p.m. (11 p.m. EST Tuesday).

The Yanks gained a 2-0 lead in the best-of-five series by sweeping Monday's opening singles matches. Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, needed only 57 minutes to chase Dungo off the rain-soaked courts, 6-1, 6-2, 6-0, and Earl Buchholz of St. Louis rallied to down Jose, 5-7, 6-1, 6-0, 6-2.

A victory in today's doubles match will clinch the series for the Yanks and reduce Fridays' concluding singles matches to mere exhibitions. It also will move the U.S. into another series against Italy's European Zone champions at Perth, Dec. 9-11, for the right to challenge Australia for the cup.

The Philippines also gambled on youth and lost in the opening matches. Felicissimo Ampon, 40-year-old cup veteran, and Raymundo Deyro — who are top-ranked in their country — sat on the sidelines and glumly watched MacKay and Buccholz stroke their way to victory.

British Champ Gets Decision Over Sonny Ray

Calderwood Victor, 10,000 See Scrap

WEMBLEY, England (UPI) — Chic Calderwood of Scotland, the British Empire light heavyweight champion, suffered a suspected broken nose in the fifth round but hung on gamely to outpoint Sonny Ray of Chicago Tuesday night in a 10-round bout at the Empire Pool.

Calderwood weighed 172¾ pounds, Ray 172½.

Calderwood was master right from the start. His upright Marquis of Queensbury stance and solid straight lefts completely foxed the weaving American, who never managed to get near enough to do any real damage.

10,000 See Bout

The Scot worried the 10,000 crowd in the first round when he staggered away from Ray's first punch, a swinging right hook, but he came back to take command and kept Ray at bay throughout the early rounds.

Even when Ray managed to get past Calderwood's straight left the canny Scot was ready with vicious counter-punching with both hands to box his way out of trouble.

In the fifth round Ray managed to get close enough to throw a solid right, which brought blood spurting from the scrub-headed Scot's nose. Seeing blood moved the American to try rushing tactics, but Calderwood's clever footwork kept him out of trouble.

Tires At Finish

In the remaining five rounds Calderwood was visibly tiring and blood from his streaming nose stained the whole of his body. His breathing, too, obviously troubled him. But still Ray could not outbox the Scot, nor get close enough to follow up his advantage.

Proposal Calls For Nine-Team Leagues For Next Season

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American League, in a compromise proposition, announced Tuesday night it would defer entering Los Angeles until 1962, provided that the National League would agree to 9-club inter-league competition in 1961.

American League officials thus tossed the gauntlet to the National League, which had laid down a set of conditions under which the A.L. could enter Los Angeles for the 1961 season.

The National League was given until Dec. 5 to reach a decision whether it would agree to 9-club inter-league play next season.

Lasts For Year

If it does, Joe McKenney, the American League's director of publicity, stressed that the inter-league competition would be for one year only and that one of the new N.L. franchises — either Houston or New York — would have to be activated next year rather than in 1962, as had originally been planned.

American League officials then went into a meeting with President Joe Cronin and following 3½ hours of discussion, McKenney came out with the following resolution, as passed by A.L. owners:

Reforms Expansion Policy

"Resolved that the American League reforms its expansion policy to have a new club in Los Angeles in 1961.

"In the event the N.L. will agree to 9-club inter-league play in 1961 by not later than Dec. 5, 1960, then the American League will defer the granting of a new member in Los Angeles until 1962.

Shortly after the resolution was made, the American League summoned the three Los Angeles franchise-seekers into the room where they had met most of the day.

The three men were: Charles Finley, a 42-year-old Chicago insurance executive; Kenyon Brown, former Detroit Tigers stockholder from Los Angeles, and Gene Klein, vice chairman of the National Theater and Television, Inc.

Del Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees, said he and partner Dan Topping "came up with the inter-league idea today and that it received the unanimous approval of the American League and a go-ahead from Commissioner Ford Frick. He said Walter O'Malley, president of the Dodgers, was "surprised but thought it was a good idea" and that NL President Warren Giles said "he'd do everything to sell the National League on it."

Means 166 Game Card

Webb said, if the plan goes through, it will mean a 166-game schedule with each club playing its league rivals 14 times (a total of 112 games) and six games against each of the nine inter-league rivals (another 54 games).

"We think this is the orderly way," said Webb, who then was asked what would happen if the National League did not go for the idea.

"We'll cross that bridge when we come to it," he said.

O'Malley laid down the conditions under which he would consent to allow an American League club in Los Angeles earlier in the day.

Johnstown Council Defers Action On Shift Of Franchise

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (UPI) —City Council Tuesday postponed until Wednesday final action on a proposal to move a Class A, Eastern League baseball franchise from Allentown, Pa., to Johnstown.

Mayor George R. Walter said approval of the transfer is "little more than a formality." He said a decision was not reached Tuesday because of a legal technicality.

Three of the four city councilmen, along with Walter favor the shift of the Eastern League club.

Joe Buzas, owner of the team, and general manager Bob Erie met with city officials Monday and agreed on all but one point. This was the amount the club would pay each year for the right to use Point Stadium. Buzas offered $3,000 a year, but Walter said it would take $2,600 annually for lighting.

Buzas, citing poor attendance as the reason for wanting to shift the franchise, guaranteed a three-year operation in Johnstown.

Ed Ewing, Former Track Photographer Here, Gets Award

Sentinels Set Pace With 13 Over 23 Years

Allegany Has Won 11, Title Has Been Shared Four Times

The city scholastic football championship will be up for grabs for the thirty-third consecutive year tomorrow when Allegany and Fort Hill clash at 1:30 p.m., at the stadium.

Allegany is the defending champion but Fort Hill, which didn't enter the picture until 1936, eight years after Allegany and LaSalle played the first city championship game, has won the most titles—a total of 13 in 23 years of competition.

On three other occasions Fort Hill shared the honors with Allegany.

Allegany has annexed the city crown eleven times, LaSalle thrice and Penn Avenue once. Allegany and LaSalle finished in a tie once.

Dawkins Wins Oxford Honor

OXFORD, England (AP)—Pete Dawkins, former Army football All-America, Monday won his second Rugby Union "Blue" for Oxford University.

The 22-year-old West Point graduate startled the British by winning a place on Oxford's team last season after playing the English game for only 10 weeks.

Now he's been picked again for the annual match against Cambridge at Twickenham, the home of British Rugby, on Dec. 6.

West Virginian To Captain Duke

DURHAM, N. C. (UPI) —Duke University basketball players renamed Howard Hurt of Beckley, W. Va., as their captain Monday.

Hurt was the leading scorer for last year's Atlantic Coast Conference champions.

It was the first time in Duke basketball history that the same man was selected as captain for two consecutive years. Others have been co-captains during two seasons but Hurt is the first to hold the position solo.

Lead Hockey Scorers

MONTREAL (UPI) — Dickie Moore and Bernie Geoffrion, the hard-driving wings of the Montreal Canadiens, were tied at 29 points each Tuesday in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race.

Gophers Will Play Huskies In Rose Bowl

Minnesota Accepts Invite For Jan. 2

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The University of Minnesota Tuesday night accepted an invitation to play Washington in the annual Rose Bowl game Jan. 2, 1961.

The offer was extended to Minnesota's No. 1 ranked Gophers Tuesday night by Tom Hajilton, commissioner of the Western Association of Universities.

It sends Minnesota to the Rose Bowl for the first time and climaxes an amazing rise from football oblivion for the Gophers, who were last in the Big Ten in 1959 and had won only five of their last 24 games prior to this season.

With one of the biggest, toughest lines in the country, they swept to eight victories in nine games this year and wound up in a tie with Iowa, No. 2 ranked nationally, for the Big Ten title.

Earlier Tuesday Minnesota's faculty-controlled Senate had voted to accept an invitation if offered, and the decision was conveyed to Far West officials.

At the same time, the Senate voted to continue its long-standing opposition to the principle of Big Ten participation in the bowl.

It justified its vote for the bowl Tuesday on grounds it would not be fair to Big Ten teams in the future if Minnesota declined this opportunity, that it might jeopardize their chances of getting an invitation.

The decision by the Far West was something of a surprise. The guessing had been that Washington was leaning toward Navy, the only team it lost to this season, as the Eastern representative if the Middies beat Army Saturday.

Knicks Defeated

NEW YORK (UPI) — The St. Louis Hawks withstood a late New York rally Tuesday night to pull out a 120-119 victory in the second game of a National Basketball Association double-header at Madison Square Garden before a crowd of 15,126.

Clyde Lovellette with 32 points, Bob Pettit with 30 and Cliff Hagan with 20 led the Hawks in handing the Knickerbockers their fifth straight loss.

A total of ten teams will play in the High School Rec League during the coming season.

Both leagues will operate similar to last season. Games will be staged Monday through Thursday on the Allegany and Fort Hill high school courts.

25 Witnesses Held Under Wraps For Pro Boxing Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Investigators of mobster influence on professional boxing said Tuesday they are keeping 25 witnesses under wraps for their protection.

The Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee said the names of the 25 will be kept secret until the start of public hearings Dec. 5.

The subcommittee had announced before that the aproximately 40 witnesses would include James D. Norris, Chicago boxing promoter; Charles (Sonny) Liston, one of the top contenders for the world heavyweight boxing championship) and the alleged boxing racketeer, Frank (Blinky) Palermo of New York and Philadelphia.

In a statement, Subcommittee Chairman Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., said he is withholding the names of some 25 additional witnesses "in order to protect their personal safety."

He said they include an assortment of boxers, one of them a former champion, boxing promoters, matchmakers, managers and some shadowy fringe characters who Kefauver said have ties with the underworld.

LEADING RECEIVER

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (UPI) —The leading pass receiver in Southwest Conference history is Jim Benton of Arkansas, who snagged 44 aerials in 1937 for 814 yards.

Kelso Hailed Horse Of Year By Turf Paper

Won 8 Of 9 Races, Earned $293,310

NEW YORK (UPI) — Kelso, who closed out the season with six straight stakes triumphs, Tuesday was hailed "Horse of the Year" by Triangle Publications, Publications, publisher of the New York Morning Telegraph and Daily Racing Form.

In the turf papers' 25th annual poll of staff members, Kelso received 22 votes for top honors and 25 of the 31 votes as the best 3-year-old of the season as well as the best 3-year-old colt.

Bald Eagle Runner-Up

Bald Eagle was runnerup for the championship with 9 votes but had no trouble winning the best handicap horse title with 143 points awarded on the basis of five for first, two for second and one for a third place vote.

Hail to Reason was chosen the best 2-year-old colt as well as the best of his generation with Blow of Flowers selected as the top 2-year-old filly.

Berlo was voted the best 3-year-old filly and Royal Native the best older mare with Berlo taking honors as the top distaff racer of the year regardless of age.

Benguala was selected the best steeplechaser.

Earned $293,310

Kelso, owned by the Bohemia Stable of Mrs. Richard Dupont, won eight of his nine races during 1960 and earned $293,310. He started late and thus missed the Triple Crown Classics.

Kelso, a gelded son of Your Host-Maid of Flight, won at distances from six furlongs to two miles; set track records at nine furlongs and two miles and equalled one at a mile and five furlongs; ran the fastest mile ever turned in by a 3-year-old in New York when he was timed in 1:34 4-5 in winning the Jerome Handicap.

He won on fast, sloppy and muddy dirt tracks but never started on the grass.

Galloway May Be First Negro Grid Player At W.V.U.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — That question is being asked again: Who will be the first Negro football player at West Virginia University?

Alderson High School halfback Allan Galloway may be that boy.

Possibly the brightest prospect is Weirton's Bob Kelley, who led the Red Riders to the Class AAA High School football title last week end. But he has completed his West Virginia high school eligibility but has a year to go before graduating from school.

West Virginia Coach Gene Corum said Tuesday he has not contacted Galloway, who led all West Virginia scholastic players in scoring with 195 points.

That Massillon, Ohio, Washington High football team, always one of the strongest anywhere, has lost only eight games in the last 12 years, while winning 100 and tying two.

MOST PLAYS

WACO, Tex. (UPI)—The most plays from scrimmage ever posted by a Southwest Conference football team was 80 by Baylor University when it beat Southern Methodist 26-0 in 1956.

25 Witnesses Held Under Wraps For Pro Boxing Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Investigators of mobster influence on professional boxing said Tuesday they are keeping 25 witnesses under wraps for their protection.

The Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee said the names of the 25 will be kept secret until the start of public hearings Dec. 5.

The subcommittee had announced before that the aproximately 40 witnesses would include James D. Norris, Chicago boxing promoter; Charles (Sonny) Liston, one of the top contenders for the world heavyweight boxing championship) and the alleged boxing racketeer, Frank (Blinky) Palermo of New York and Philadelphia.

In a statement, Subcommittee Chairman Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., said he is withholding the names of some 25 additional witnesses "in order to protect their personal safety."

He said they include an assortment of boxers, one of them a former champion, boxing promoters, matchmakers, managers and some shadowy fringe characters who Kefauver said have ties with the underworld.

LEADING RECEIVER

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (UPI) —The leading pass receiver in Southwest Conference history is Jim Benton of Arkansas, who snagged 44 aerials in 1937 for 814 yards.

Kelso Hailed Horse Of Year By Turf Paper

Won 8 Of 9 Races, Earned $293,310

NEW YORK (UPI) — Kelso, who closed out the season with six straight stakes triumphs, Tuesday was hailed "Horse of the Year" by Triangle Publications, Publications, publisher of the New York Morning Telegraph and Daily Racing Form.

In the turf papers' 25th annual poll of staff members, Kelso received 22 votes for top honors and 25 of the 31 votes as the best 3-year-old of the season as well as the best 3-year-old colt.

Bald Eagle Runner-Up

Bald Eagle was runnerup for the championship with 9 votes but had no trouble winning the best handicap horse title with 143 points awarded on the basis of five for first, two for second and one for a third place vote.

Hail to Reason was chosen the best 2-year-old colt as well as the best of his generation with Blow of Flowers selected as the top 2-year-old filly.

Berlo was voted the best 3-year-old filly and Royal Native the best older mare with Berlo taking honors as the top distaff racer of the year regardless of age.

Benguala was selected the best steeplechaser.

Earned $293,310

Kelso, owned by the Bohemia Stable of Mrs. Richard Dupont, won eight of his nine races during 1960 and earned $293,310. He started late and thus missed the Triple Crown Classics.

Kelso, a gelded son of Your Host-Maid of Flight, won at distances from six furlongs to two miles; set track records at nine furlongs and two miles and equalled one at a mile and five furlongs; ran the fastest mile ever turned in by a 3-year-old in New York when he was timed in 1:34 4-5 in winning the Jerome Handicap.

He won on fast, sloppy and muddy dirt tracks but never started on the grass.

Galloway May Be First Negro Grid Player At W.V.U.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — That question is being asked again: Who will be the first Negro football player at West Virginia University?

Alderson High School halfback Allan Galloway may be that boy.

Possibly the brightest prospect is Weirton's Bob Kelley, who led the Red Riders to the Class AAA High School football title last week end. But he has completed his West Virginia high school eligibility but has a year to go before graduating from school.

West Virginia Coach Gene Corum said Tuesday he has not contacted Galloway, who led all West Virginia scholastic players in scoring with 195 points.

That Massillon, Ohio, Washington High football team, always one of the strongest anywhere, has lost only eight games in the last 12 years, while winning 100 and tying two.

MOST PLAYS

WACO, Tex. (UPI)—The most plays from scrimmage ever posted by a Southwest Conference football team was 80 by Baylor University when it beat Southern Methodist 26-0 in 1956.

Market Loses Ground On Wave Of Late Selling

NEW YORK (UPI) — A late selling spree knocked a shaky prop put from under the stock market Tuesday leaving the list in lower ground.

The prop in this case was the recently high - flying specialties, strong most of the day, but belted for most of their gains in the last half hour, thereby eliminating a major crutch.

The biggest losers among the standard fare were the steels as the significance of this week's 47.5 per cent operating rate began to sink in. Youngstown dropped 1 ⅝, U.S. Steel a point and Bethlehem ⅜ to a new low.

All the motors gave up fractions including Ford which got the go-ahead sign to takeover its British subsidiary. DuPont with a gain of 1¾ bucked a weak chemical group. The only other decent gain in the Dow-Jones industrial average was in International Harvester, up 1¼, in belated response to the company's entry into the compact vehicle field.

That average sagged 3.44 points to 601.10 while the rails dipped 0.55 to 128.79 and utilities gained 0.26 to 95.07. Volume rose to 3,430,000 shares from 3,090,000 Monday helped a late tape during the selling.

Market Loses Ground On Wave Of Late Selling

NEW YORK (UPI) — A late selling spree knocked a shaky prop put from under the stock market Tuesday leaving the list in lower ground.

The prop in this case was the recently high - flying specialties, strong most of the day, but belted for most of their gains in the last half hour, thereby eliminating a major crutch.

The biggest losers among the standard fare were the steels as the significance of this week's 47.5 per cent operating rate began to sink in. Youngstown dropped 1 ⅝. U.S. Steel a point and Bethlehem ⅜ to a new low.

All the motors gave up fractions including Ford which got the go-ahead sign to takeover its British subsidiary. DuPont with a gain of 1¾ bucked a weak chemical group. The only other decent gain in the Dow-Jones industrial average was in International Harvester, up 1¼, in belated response to the company's entry into the compact vehicle field.

That average sagged 3.44 points to 601.10 while the rails dipped 0.55 to 128.79 and utilities gained 0.26 to 95.07. Volume rose to 3,430,000 shares from 3,090,000 Monday helped a late tape during the selling.

Card Of Thanks

The family of the late Clarence M. Fazenbaker, wishes to express sincere thanks and appreciation to all friends, neighbors and relatives for their kindness during their recent bereavement. They especially thank the pallbearers, the V.F.W., the American Legion, those who sent flowers, those who donated the use of their cars, Rev. Thomas Mitchell. To all others who in any manner rendered assistance, we are indeed grateful.

Card Of Thanks

The family of the late Clarence M. Fazenbaker, wishes to express sincere thanks and appreciation to all friends, neighbors and relatives for their kindness during their recent bereavement. They especially thank the pallbearers, the V.F.W., the American Legion, those who sent flowers, those who donated the use of their cars, Rev. Thomas Mitchell. To all others who in any manner rendered assistance, we are indeed grateful.

Countian Given Two Years For Grand Larceny

Cable Is Stolen From Area Mine

One of two Allegany County men, charged with the grand larceny of coal mine cable valued at $168 last month, yesterday afternoon was sentenced to the Maryland Reformatory for Males for a period not to exceed two years following a hearing before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Circuit Court.

Lewis Junior Airhart, 25, of Frostburg, who entered a plea of guilty, was tried on a criminal information filed by the state's attorney's office.

Yesterday's case was presented by Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney. Edward J. Ryan was counsel for Airhart.

Second Man Held

Walter Perry, Clarysville, is being held in the county jail on a similar charge. He and Airhart were given a hearing on November 4 before Trial Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt who set bond at $500 and ordered the men held for action of the grand jury.

Edwin R. Lilya, who represented the state's attorney's office at the magistrate court hearing, said the Georges Creek Coal Company, Knapp's Meadow, was put out of operation when the half-inch copper cable was clipped with wire cutters.

During yesterday's trial it was pointed out by Mr. Mason that the cable had been stolen from the company on October 26. On the following day an abandoned car owned by Airhart was found along the highway in the Grantsville area by Tfc. Donald R. Wade, who upon investigation, found the cable in the trunk of the car.

Car Ownership Checked

The ownership of the car was checked out and Airhart and Perry were arrested and later questioned by Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police at LaVale. It was learned that Airhart's car had broken down along the road.

The cable was clipped with a pair of bolt cutters purchased from a store in Frostburg, authorities said.

Judge Harris, in passing sentence, pointed out that Airhart had received suspended sentences on two previous occasions, and said he was not going to hand down another suspended sentence.

After bond was set at $500, Airhart asked for an immediate trial on a criminal information. As yet Perry has not indicated he wants an immediate trial.

The picture was taken during an exercise at the National Guard armory here, in which the local Marine reservists learned more about tanks from the Guard unit.

Most Think Blue Cross Not Abused

Survey Taken By Advisory Group

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Blue Cross attitude survey of subscribers showed Tuesday that 75 per cent of the policy holders didn't believe benefits were being seriously abused.

The survey of the Blue Cross Subscriber Advisory Committee showed 40 per cent believed there was no such abuse and 36 per cent felt any unnecessary use was limited. Nineteen per cent felt the abuse was widespread and six per cent gave no opinion.

The results of the survey were directly opposed to the findings of the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty after taking a survey of Maryland doctors. The faculty reported that 77 per cent of the doctors questioned felt hospital facilities were being used uneconomically or unnecessarily.

All 542 members of the Blue Croos subscriber committee received the questionnaire. The agency received 256 replies. The advisory committee plan is designed to test attitudes and receive suggestions.

In another Blue Cross development, Hyman A. Pressman, Baltimore attorney, called upon Insurance Commissioner F.Douglass Sears to report on the status of an edict he issued to end Blue Cross abuses.

Pressman said Sears had given the Maryland Hospital Council and the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty 60 days to produce a workable plan to end the abuses.

Pressman said the 60 days were up Nov. 19. "There has been no announcement that the hospital administrators and doctors have acted on your edict," Pressman said. The attorney added that if the proper steps had not been taken Sears should use the power of his office "to reduce Blue Cross abuses and to eliminate unnecessary waste and draining of Blue Cross funds."

Land Buying Urged For State Parks

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The director of Forests and Parks says Maryland had better step up its land acquisition pace if the state is going to keep up with the mushrooming use of state parks.

Joseph F. Kaylor said Maryland will require 30 times the park land it now owns to meet the recreation requirements of its population in the year 2000.

He said the state will "need to purchase, acquire by gift or trade, some 10,000 acres a year." Kaylor added that this land would also have to be developed with a minimum of facilities to give visitors the essentials of outdoor recreation for all seasons of the year.

The director said that if his entire 1962 budget of slightly under $3 million for land acquisition were granted, the state "would be setting a pace to be followed for the next thre or four years to meet present day needs." Kaylor estimated that the $3 million could purchase an additional 12,500-13,000 acres of park land.

Kaylor said a report by Resources for the Future, Inc., estimated Maryland's population in the year 2000 at 6.5 million. This would require 520,000 acres of recreational land, the report continued. Maryland's park system presently covers 17,000 acres.

Kaylor pointed out that the park system, designed to handle 1.5 million persons, is already greatly overtaxed. Last season's attendance figures totaled four million.

He said the state should follow "the program of land acquisition contained in the master plan of this department." The master plan calls for 50,000 acres of state parks and recreation areas by 1965.

Kaylor also solicited the assistance of county planning and zoning boards to set aside areas for public recreation or limited recreation use.

Used Car Lot Permit Asked On Greene St.

Application Goes To Planning Board

The first application to go through the procedure set up in an ordinance adopted October 17 to control the location of used car lots is being processed by the City of Cumberland.

The application to locate a used car lot at 744-750 Greene Street has been filed by Richard R. Gulick, 750 Greene Street, with City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery.

As required by the new ordinance, Mr. Ullery has referred the application to the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission, which will take up the application at its December 1 meeting.

Board Must Approve

The procedure set up by the ordinance requires that applications for such a business be made to the Planning and Zoning Commission.

Upon approval, the commission shall notify the Mayor and Council of its approval, and the Mayor and Council shall pass upon the application at its next regular meeting.

Before granting a permit, the commission is required to examine the property and neighborhood, cause the property to be posted and to hold a public hearing, when all persons shall be heard for or against issuance of the permit.

Is Specific

The ordinance specifically states that no permit shall be granted where the commission finds it would be a serious fire hazard or would menace public health, safety, security or morals, or would result in hazardous traffic conditions.

The ordinance sets up a number of items to be considered by the commission in making its decision.

They include the availability of fire fighting equipment, water pressure, density of population, parking facilities, number of people using sidewalks, needs of the community, effects of odors, smoke and noise on the use of surrounding properties, effect on the orderly growth of the community, effect of articicial illumination on the area and effect of such use upon the peacful enjoyment of home of nearby residents.

The registration books at the office of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors will be reopened on Friday morning.

John R. Kelly, chief clerk, said the books normally would have been reopened on Thursday, November 24, but the office at the Court House will be closed due to Thanksgiving.

There is no rush to register at the office since the next election will be held in the spring of 1962 when local residents will elect a mayor and city council.

At the present time, personnel at the board office are busy checking voting authority cards against poll books against binders.

As of November 1 this year there were a total of 40,413 persons on the registration books including 22,576 Republicans, 17,530 Democrats and 307 other parties.

Oakland Man Is Charged In Fatal Accident

Dillsworth To Face Two Motor Counts

Elmer Hunter Dillsworth, 43, of RD 2, Oakland, has been charged with two motor vehicle violations in the fatal accident which claimed the life of an Evans City, Pa., mother last Friday.

State's Attorney Dwight Stover of Garrett County said Dillsworth will be tried before Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney in Oakland at 10 a. m. on December 17. He is charged with reckless driving and failure to yield the right of way to another vehicle.

Dillsworth was operating one of two cars which collided on Maryland Route 39 at Crellin last Friday. Mrs. Bernardine Louella Neal, 31, of Evans City, was killed in the crash and her husband, Delbert Neal and their two small children were injured.

Garrett County officials said they did not feel there was enough evidence to prove gross negligence, necessary to warrant a charge of manslaughter by automobile.

Tfc. D. A. Tucker of the Maryland State Police investigated the crash which occurred about 9:15 a. m.

Investigation indicated that Dillsworth was traveling east at the time of the accident and apparently swung over in front of the Neal automobile which was headed west.

Mrs. Neal, riding in the front seat of their car, died of a fractured neck. Mr. Neal was treated for minor injuries while the couple's two children, Deborrah Kay, 4, and Edward Dale, 2, were hospitalized for two days.

$500 Awarded By Jurors In Circuit Court

After lengthy deliberation yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court, a petit jury awarded $500 to the plaintiff in a breach of contract suit tried in the court before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Mrs. Irma Buser was foreman of the jury of three women and nine men who began deliberating just before 2 p. m. and were unable to reach a verdict until after 5 p. m.

About 3:45 p. m. the jurors returned to the court room and Mrs. Buser informed the judge they were unable to reach a verdict. However Judge Harris instructed the jurors to return to the jury room and further consider the case.

The suit was brought by Reid Hayden Inc. insulation engineers and contractors of Baltimore against Charles E. Robinson, 218 North Mechanic Street, trading as the Robinson Plumbing and Heating Company.

The plaintiff, represented by Attorney John M. Robb, contended that it entered into a contract with the local firm to install Therm-O-Tile conduits in a low rent housing project here.

Meanwhile the local firm got the services of another firm, the plaintiff claimed. A total of $1,040 loss of profits was being sought by the plaintiff.

Edward J. Ryan was counsel for the defendant.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland State Teachers Association will carry a campaign for a $13 million teacher salary program into every county of the state.

Milson C. Raver, executive secretary of the association, and Robert Y. DuBel, his assistant, said they would speak to groups in Maryland's 23 counties and Baltimore City on a tour extending through mid-January.

The aim is to promote grass roots support for across-the-board pay increases when the 1961 session of the General Assembly takes up consideration of teachers' salaries.

The legislature's Committee on Taxation and Fiscal Matters recently proposed a $3.5 million boost for certified state teachers, in a move that would add $400 to the current pay base of $3,200-$5,300. The committee also recommended $3.2 million for school construction.

Raver called the committee recommendation "half a loaf in two areas that won't satisfy the hunger in either."

Countian Given Two Years For Grand Larceny

Cable Is Stolen From Area Mine

One of two Allegany County men, charged with the grand larceny of coal mine cable valued at $168 last month, yesterday afternoon was sentenced to the Maryland Reformatory for Males for a period not to exceed two years following a hearing before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Circuit Court.

Lewis Junior Airhart, 25, of Frostburg, who entered a plea of guilty, was tried on a criminal information filed by the state's attorney's office.

Yesterday's case was presented by Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney. Edward J. Ryan was counsel for Airhart.

Second Man Held

Walter Perry, Clarysville, is being held in the county jail on a similar charge. He and Airhart were given a hearing on November 4 before Trial Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt who set bond at $500 and ordered the men held for action of the grand jury.

Edwin R. Lilya, who represented the state's attorney's office at the magistrate court hearing, said the Georges Creek Coal Company, Knapp's Meadow, was put out of operation when the half-inch copper cable was clipped with wire cutters.

During yesterday's trial it was pointed out by Mr. Mason that the cable had been stolen from the company on October 26. On the following day an abandoned car owned by Airhart was found along the highway in the Grantsville area by Tfc. Donald R. Wade, who upon investigation, found the cable in the trunk of the car.

Car Ownership Checked

The ownership of the car was checked out and Airhart and Perry were arrested and later questioned by Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police at LaVale. It was learned that Airhart's car had broken down along the road.

The cable was clipped with a pair of bolt cutters purchased from a store in Frostburg, authorities said.

Judge Harris, in passing sentence, pointed out that Airhart had received suspended sentences on two previous occasions, and said he was not going to hand down another suspended sentence.

After bond was set at $500, Airhart asked for an immediate trial on a criminal information. As yet Perry has not indicated he wants an immediate trial.

Most Think Blue Cross Not Abused

Survey Taken By Advisory Group

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Blue Cross attitude survey of subscribers showed Tuesday that 75 per cent of the policy holders didn't believe benefits were being seriously abused.

The survey of the Blue Cross Subscriber Advisory Committee showed 40 per cent believed there was no such abuse and 36 per cent felt any unnecessary use was limited. Nineteen per cent felt the abuse was widespread and six per cent gave no opinion.

The results of the survey were directly opposed to the findings of the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty after taking a survey of Maryland doctors. The faculty reported that 77 per cent of the doctors questioned felt hospital facilities were being used uneconomically or unnecessarily.

All 542 members of the Blue Croos subscriber committee received the questionnaire. The agency received 256 replies. The advisory committee plan is designed to test attitudes and receive suggestions.

In another Blue Cross development, Hyman A. Pressman, Baltimore attorney, called upon Insurance Commissioner F.Douglass Sears to report on the status of an edict he issued to end Blue Cross abuses.

Pressman said Sears had given the Maryland Hospital Council and the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty 60 days to produce a workable plan to end the abuses.

Pressman said the 60 days were up Nov. 19. "There has been no announcement that the hospital administrators and doctors have acted on your edict," Pressman said. The attorney added that if the proper steps had not been taken Sears should use the power of his office "to reduce Blue Cross abuses and to eliminate unnecessary waste and draining of Blue Cross funds."

Land Buying Urged For State Parks

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The director of Forests and Parks says Maryland had better step up its land acquisition pace if the state is going to keep up with the mushrooming use of state parks.

Joseph F. Kaylor said Maryland will require 30 times the park land it now owns to meet the recreation requirements of its population in the year 2000.

He said the state will "need to purchase, acquire by gift or trade, some 10,000 acres a year." Kaylor added that this land would also have to be developed with a minimum of facilities to give visitors the essentials of outdoor recreation for all seasons of the year.

The director said that if his entire 1962 budget of slightly under $3 million for land acquisition were granted, the state "would be setting a pace to be followed for the next thre or four years to meet present day needs." Kaylor estimated that the $3 million could purchase an additional 12,500-13,000 acres of park land.

Kaylor said a report by Resources for the Future, Inc., estimated Maryland's population in the year 2000 at 6.5 million. This would require 520,000 acres of recreational land, the report continued. Maryland's park system presently covers 17,000 acres.

Kaylor pointed out that the park system, designed to handle 1.5 million persons, is already greatly overtaxed. Last season's attendance figures totaled four million.

He said the state should follow "the program of land acquisition contained in the master plan of this department." The master plan calls for 50,000 acres of state parks and recreation areas by 1965.

Kaylor also solicited the assistance of county planning and zoning boards to set aside areas for public recreation or limited recreation use.

Oakland Man Is Charged In Fatal Accident

Dillsworth To Face Two Motor Counts

Elmer Hunter Dillsworth, 43, of RD 2, Oakland, has been charged with two motor vehicle violations in the fatal accident which claimed the life of an Evans City, Pa., mother last Friday.

State's Attorney Dwight Stover of Garrett County said Dillsworth will be tried before Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney in Oakland at 10 a. m. on December 17. He is charged with reckless driving and failure to yield the right of way to another vehicle.

Dillsworth was operating one of two cars which collided on Maryland Route 39 at Crellin last Friday. Mrs. Bernardine Louella Neal, 31, of Evans City, was killed in the crash and her husband, Delbert Neal and their two small children were injured.

Garrett County officials said they did not feel there was enough evidence to prove gross negligence, necessary to warrant a charge of manslaughter by automobile.

Tfc. D. A. Tucker of the Maryland State Police investigated the crash which occurred about 9:15 a. m.

Investigation indicated that Dillsworth was traveling east at the time of the accident and apparently swung over in front of the Neal automobile which was headed west.

Mrs. Neal, riding in the front seat of their car, died of a fractured neck. Mr. Neal was treated for minor injuries while the couple's two children, Deborrah Kay, 4, and Edward Dale, 2, were hospitalized for two days.
